Police have not been able to establish positive identity. Dr. E. H. Morgan, Marion County coroner, was called in to make an autopsy and determine the cause of death.

Chief Coon said a preliminary examination indicates he died of natural causes and that he has been dead for some time, possibly as much as three days.

The body has been removed to the M. H. Gunder Sons Funeral Home.

President Declares Soviet Bomb Must Be Considered

OTTAWA (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today Canada and the United States "can and will" work out a defense against any surprise atomic attack while still maintaining their commitments in other parts of the world.

Addressing a joint session of the Canadian Parliament, Eisenhower said the Russians have adopted a truculent tone and United States-Canadian security plans "must now take into account Soviet ability to employ atomic attack on North America."

'Shall Achieve Defense'

In his speech, prepared for delivery as the highlight of his good neighbor visit to Canada, the U.S. President declared:

"We shall achieve the defense of our continent without whittling our pledges to Western Europe or forgetting our friends in the Pacific.

"The bankruptcy of armament races and the suicide of nuclear war," he continued somberly, are the only alternatives to "an international will to cast out the bomb and gun as arbiters."

Asserting "the threat of Communist purpose still exists," Eisenhower described Russia's recent rejection of the Western Powers' bid to a foreign ministers' conference on Germany and Austria as "truculent, not to say arrogant in tone."

"Our security plans must now take into account Soviet ability to employ atomic attack on North America, as well as on countries friendly to us, lying nearer to the U. S. S. R.

First 'Live' Telecast

"Their atomic stockpile will, of course increase in size, and means of delivery will improve as time goes on."

Eisenhower's historic address was telecast by the Canadian Broadcasting Co.—the first "live" television broadcast from the House of Commons chamber.

It also was scheduled on nation-

Vote on West's Disarmament Plans Pressed

Political Committee Of U.N. Assembly Seeks Early Action

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U.N. Assembly's Political Committee pushed for a vote today on Western proposals for disarmament talks by the world's atomic powers as the eighth Assembly session ended its second month. Delegates still hoped to finish their business by the Dec. 8 adjournment target.

New blasts from Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky and Western replies prolonged the committee debate yesterday. More discussion was scheduled today in an effort to reach a ballot.

Approval of the Western resolution appeared certain.

Urges Continued Efforts

Like previous Assembly resolutions on the subject, it urges the 12-nation Disarmament Commission—the 11 Security Council members and Canada—to keep looking for ways of reaching international agreement on disarmament.

The innovation in this year's resolution is a recommendation for a subcommittee of the "powers principally involved" to seek a disarmament agreement in private negotiation.

An Indian amendment originally called for the United States, Britain, Canada, France and the Soviet Union—the five leaders in atomic research — to hold these negotiations. Subsequent amendment removed the names from the resolution.

Vishinsky Makes Charge

Vishinsky charged yesterday that American preparations for a new war are preventing disarmament and building up international tensions.

The Soviet U.N. delegate also joined his boss, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, in demanding a Big Power conference, including Communist China to discuss measures aimed at lessening the strain. Molotov made his views known at an unprecedented news conference in Moscow while Vishinsky addressed the 60-nation Political Committee here.

Britain's Selwyn Lloyd making the chief reply for the West, said Vishinsky had in effect rejected the Western proposals and commented: "This has been a bad day for disarmament."

Besides disarmament, four major political questions still are outstanding on the Assembly agenda: Korea, Russia's "Peace Plan" to avert a third World War, U. S. charges of Communist atrocities in Korea, and Nationalist Chinese guerrillas in Burma.

Truman Says He'll Tell All On Broadcast

Radio Report Monday Night Will Give His Side of White Case

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Truman said today he will make an "all-out broadcast" Monday night from Kansas City on the Harry Dexter White case.

The broadcast will "tell all the facts," Truman told newsmen in the lobby of the Waldorf Towers as he prepared to leave to board a train for his home in Independence, Mo.

Truman earlier told newsmen it was possible he transferred White from the Treasury Department to the International Monetary Fund to give the FBI a chance to watch him.

The broadcast will mark his first comprehensive statement in the controversy.

Referring to the broadcast, Truman told the reporters:

"I'll give you boys everything you have been trying to get out of me for the past week."

When Truman first announced he was going to make a broadcast, newsmen asked if it would concern the White case.

The former president laughed and said it would deal with "the pending difficulties."

To a question whether his speech would be carried also on television, he said that would depend on the situation at the time. Truman did not say what network or networks would carry the speech.

Newsmen accompanying him on his traditional morning stroll asked him:

"Is it true that you knew of the FBI report on White and at the suggestion of the FBI you appointed him executive director of the International Monetary Fund to put him in a position to be watched?"

"If the FBI made such a request, would you have complied?" he was asked.

"It's a possibility," Truman said.

Season's First Big Storm Hits Pacific Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The season's first violent storm smacked the Pacific coast with rain and wind up to 85 m. p. h. during the night and was moving into the Los Angeles area today.

A second storm, close behind, should bring heavy rains to parts of Washington, Oregon and northern California tomorrow, the U. S. Weather Bureau predicted.

A freighter lost its propeller 1,160 miles west of the Columbia River mouth, but a Coast Guard cutter reached the scene about 4 a.m. The Panamanian registry ship Margo in no immediate danger from the high seas and winds.

In northern California, where the storm's center hit, communications and power were disrupted, highways were littered with uprooted trees and debris, streets were flooded and chimneys were toppled.

No Secrets Stolen

Army Reports No Spies Uncovered at Radar Lab

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army does not agree with Sen. McCarthy (R—Wis) that there is evidence its radar laboratory at Fort Monmouth, N. J., has been the recent scene of Communist spy activities.

Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens told a news conference yesterday there were no suspected spies among the 33 workers suspended on loyalty charges at the Signal Corps center.

No Secrets Stolen

Stevens also said so far as he could determine no secrets passed from the radar laboratory to Iron Curtain nations in recent years.

The secretary declared he did think espionage had occurred during World War II at the installation—at the time Julius Rosenberg, executed as an atomic spy last summer, visited it.

McCarthy said last month, as he was developing an investigation of Fort Monmouth security, that "it appears at this point to be a matter of current espionage."

He said evidence being gathered by the Senate investigation subcommittee might "envelop the whole Signal Corps."

McCarthy's Reaction

McCarthy, chairman of the subcommittee, commented yesterday: "I'll let the hearings speak for themselves." He was in Portland, Maine, for a speaking engagement.

"So far I haven't tried to evaluate the testimony," the senator said. "More detailed hearings will be held around Dec. 1, either in Monmouth or New York."

Stevens said several of the 33 civilians suspended at Fort Monmouth have already been reinstated and all others will be given a fair hearing before a loyalty board composed of Navy and Air Force civilian and military officials.

He said it was pure coincidence that the suspension of the civilians at Fort Monmouth came during the time of the probe by the McCarthy committee. The secretary said six of the suspensions had been ordered before the subcommittee investigation got underway.

Fire Hazard Cited

Hunting Season Opening Postponed for One Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's pheasant and rabbit hunting season scheduled to start Monday, has been delayed at least until Nov. 23 because of the field and forest fire hazard.

Officials of the state division of wildlife meet today to plan enforcement of the postponement they ordered yesterday.

"Obviously, it will have to be enforced," said Charles A. Dambach, chief of the wildlife division. He said hunting licenses are issued subject to the authority of the council to rescind or change regulations.

Postponement beyond Nov. 23 is likely unless there is rain or snow. The council will meet again next Friday to decide. Besides pheasants and rabbits, the season is postponed for raccoon, grouse, Hungarian partridge and other game.

Duck season, which opened Oct. 19 and runs through Dec. 12, was not affected. Hunters must have waterfowl stamps on their licenses and must be hunting ducks to avoid arrest, Dambach said.

The council also eliminated Ashland and Medina counties from those in which deer hunting will be permitted Dec. 17-19.

O. A. Alderman, chief of the state forestry division, ordered all state parks and public lands closed.

The council said it acted because the state fire index was ranging from 11 to 19. Fire towers are manned when the index reaches five. The index is based on such factors as wind velocity, air moisture and dryness of grass, bushes and trees.

Fire Damages Home in Galion

Loss of Thousands Estimated by Owner

Special to The Star

GALION—The seven-room brick ranch-type home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Seif was badly damaged by fire and smoke early this morning when a fire broke out in the basement of the home. The home is on the Winchester Rd. in an area of new homes in the west section of Galion.

Mrs. Seif was awakened by the smell of smoke and upon investigating found there was a fire in the basement. They found the phone wires had been burned and went to the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heskett, just north of them to call the fire department.

Firemen answered the call at 5:25 a.m. and fought the blaze for two hours.

Origin of the fire has not been definitely determined but Fire Chief John Durtsch reported the fire seemed to follow the wiring in the home. From the basement the fire spread through a partition into the knotty pine den of the home, went across the ceiling into the attic. Firemen were forced to tear out a side of the paneling in the den and also part of the ceiling to fight the fire.

Because of the extreme heat in the basement, the soldering on the copper water pipes was melted, causing them to drip. Mr. Seif reported all the wiring was destroyed. Because of the dense smoke, firemen were forced to use gas masks while in the attic and basement.

Mr. Seif estimated the damage would amount to several thousand dollars. He said the contents of the home and the house were covered by insurance. He added that in repairing, the joists in the basement will have to be taken out and replaced.

The Seifs moved into the home when it was new two years ago this month.

Call Is Issued By Democrat On Velde Unit

Rep. Walter Declares Hoover Should Tell All He Knows About Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top Democrat on the House Un-American Activities Committee has demanded that J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, tell all he knows about the Harry Dexter White case.

"Everybody who had any contact with it ought to tell everything he or she knows," said Rep. Walter of Pennsylvania in calling for Hoover's appearance before the Senate internal security subcommittee.

Only One Called Him Spy

Walter, in a recorded CBS radio interview last night, said that so far as he knows Atty. Gen. Brownell is the only person close to the case to call White a Communist spy. Brownell touched off the far-reaching uproar in a speech at Chicago Nov. 6, when he said former President Truman gave White a better government job in 1946 despite FBI reports that White was a Communist spy.

"He must have made that statement on the basis of information we've never had," Walter said. "We and the American people are entitled to have that information."

Walter said the House Un-American Activities Committee, of which he is the ranking Democrat, should bow out of the White inquiry. But he said there should be a full airing, presumably by the Senate internal security subcommittee, with Hoover, Brownell, Truman and others invited to appear.

Walter said he had been reliably informed that Truman, Hoover, then Secretary of the Treasury Vinson and then Atty. Gen. Clark decided in 1946 to promote White "and then keep him under surveillance."

Challenges Statement

But Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), chairman of the Senate internal security subcommittee, quickly issued a statement challenging this. Jenner said Hoover is "too security conscious" to make any agreement permitting subversives to remain in government service.

The senator declared he would ask Brownell about this point at a closed session of his committee Tuesday. Brownell, who also has accepted an invitation to appear before the House group, is understood to be readying a "comprehensive statement" for the Jenner committee's executive session at 2 p.m. (EST) Tuesday.

The chairman said last night a public session a half-hour later will be radio-broadcast and televised.

Jenner disclosed today he has renewed his efforts to question Igor Gouzenko, the Russian code clerk who walked out of the Soviet Embassy at Ottawa in 1945 with voluminous documents exposing the Canadian spy ring.

Jenner made public a letter dated Nov. 13, to Secretary of State Dulles asking him to renew the subcommittee's request for permission from Canada to inter-

Plans Adopted For Continuing Talks in Korea

Agreement on Agenda Hikes Hope of Getting Discussions Under Way

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Allied and Communist diplomats today pumped new life into dwindling hopes for a Korean peace settlement with agreement on an agenda for preliminary talks to arrange a political conference.

Top-level negotiators reconvened after a week-long recess and approved an agenda drafted by staff advisers in six secret sessions.

The agreement provides for simultaneous discussion of a time and place for the peace conference and of nations which will attend. Communist insistence on deciding the composition first had deadlocked the preliminary talks for three weeks.

Opens the Door

Approval of the agenda will get the stalled preliminary talks under way but U. S. envoy Arthur Dean told newsmen: "This is just the key that opens the door. The real hard work is just commencing."

Meanwhile non-Communist members of the Korean Repatriation Commission were increasingly pessimistic over the future of Red interviews with Chinese and Korean War prisoners who have refused to go home.

Explanations have been canceled nine straight days because of Communist demands to interview prisoners called up but not interviewed Nov. 5.

Armin Daeniker, Swiss member of the commission said Saturday the future of the explanation program doesn't "look very good."

Like Dean's Proposal

The agenda for the preliminary political talks closely parallels a plan proposed first by envoy Dean Oct. 31. At that time Red negotiators called it "sleight of hand" and "absolutely unacceptable."

Dean said after Saturday's meeting that he always has been optimistic about chances for a Korean peace conference "and I am even more optimistic now."

Dean and the Communist negotiators will meet again Monday to iron out working plans for subcommittee discussions.

The top U. N. negotiator said he probably would sit on one of the subcommittees himself.

The Communists have insisted from the beginning that they would

An electric soldering iron left connected and lying unattended on a wooden work bench resulted in a $2,000 fire at Ronald Selanders' electric shop at 115 Jefferson St. at 9:51 p.m. last night.

Firemen said the hot iron burned through the wooden work bench, dropped to the floor and kindled some pasteboard boxes on the floor into open flame.

The fire call was answered by Central Station firemen who extinguished the blaze in about 40 minutes. Fire Chief Sifritt estimated the loss between $1,500 and $2,000 to the building and contents.

Another fire run made was to Lincoln Park at 12:20 p.m. Fire Chief Sifritt said custodians were burning leaves and left them burn unattended while they went to lunch. A passerby saw the smoke and called the fire department. No loss was reported.

Abide With Me

A sick preacher takes a walk

During the first half of the last century it was not uncommon for the townspeople of Brixham, England, to see a frail middle-aged man stroll thoughtfully along the seashore. The mild-mannered man was the town's parson and he had taken his daily walks by the sea for 20 years. That was the way he worked out his sermons.

But on a Sunday afternoon in September, 1847, the Reverend Henry Francis Lyte took his walk with a heavy heart. He knew it was the last time he would tread the familiar path. When he was 30 years old he had taken the little church at Brixham because he thought the salt air would help his health. Now he was 54 and his lung trouble had grown worse. Doctors said he would have to go to the warmer climate of Italy.

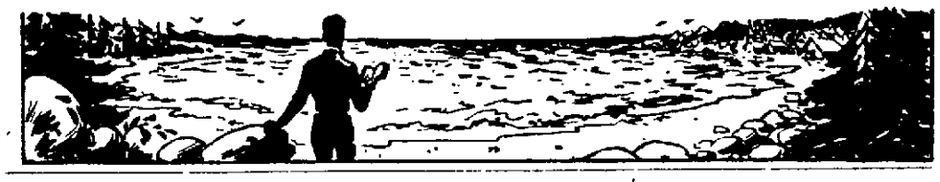
At the morning service Lyte had conducted his last sacrament. And now, as he walked beside the sea, he made notes for his farewell message to friends whose joys and sorrows he had shared for nearly a quarter of a century. In Italy he would be among strangers. But the gentle man knew there was one Friend who would go with him . . . "in life, in death" . . . wherever he went. He put his sentiments on paper, gave the paper to a relative who put it away in a trunk. Henry Francis Lyte died in Southern France two months after leaving Brixham. He never reached Italy. In 1861 his poem came to the attention of a London publisher. Composer William H. Monk set it to music . . . thus was born an immortal hymn.

Abide with me; fast falls the eventide;
The darkness deepens; Lord, with me abide;
When other helpers fail, and comforts flee,
Help of the helpless, O abide with me!

Swift to its close ebbs life's little day;
Earth's joys grow dim, its glories pass away;
Change and decay in all around I see;

O Thou who changest not, abide with me!
I need Thy presence every passing hour;
What but Thy grace can foil the tempter's power?
Who like Thyself my guide and stay can be?
Thro' cloud and sunshine, O abide with me!

Hold Thou Thy cross before my closing eyes;
Shine through the loom, and point me to the skies;
Heaven's morning breaks, and earth's vain shadows flee—
In life, in death, O Lord, abide with me!



Burden Bearing

A Sermonette

By REV. J. B. HOLLOWAY
Pastor of Trinity Baptist Church

"Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ." Gal. 6:2

This age in which we live may be characterized as a carefree age. We take everything in stride and shrug our shoulders when trouble is mentioned as if it could not happen to us, but eventually it does overtake all of us and we are forced to realize that the ancient adage is true, "Man is born unto trouble as the sparks fly upward."

The important question for us is not how we may avoid the burdens of life, but rather how we shall meet them when they do come, as they inevitably will in one form or another.

Self preservation has been called the first law of life and the natural inclination is for everyone to look out for himself. Paul admonishes us in Gal. 6:5 to bear our own burdens. Many of them are nontransferrable however much we might like to shift them on to the shoulders of another. We are primarily responsible for all our words and deeds. If we bring serious burdens upon ourselves as a natural consequence of our personal actions we have none to blame but ourselves, for "whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

It is not only morally just and right for each one to bear his own burden, but it is wholesome and good that we should learn in the school of experience and accept the responsibility for our deeds. Difficulties and burdens when borne with fortitude and courage will strengthen a man. They will tend to increase his faith by keeping him humble and conscious of his dependence upon Almighty God. They teach him patience and tolerance and a sympathetic understanding of the needs of others who are having similar struggles. Paul says "Therefore endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ."

NO MAN LIVES to himself and no man dies to himself alone. We are social beings and live in a world of complex community interests. The burdens of life are too great for us to bear them alone, so we have the Scriptural admonition: "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ." There are scores of people in our community every year on whom misfortune falls through no fault of their own and desperately need a helping hand. Our social agencies have come into being to help meet that need and every dollar contributed to Red Cross, the Heart and Cancer Clinics, Polio and Tuberculosis drives simply indicates that the donor is desirous of sharing and helping to bear another's burden. The tragedy is that our hearts have not been big enough and our minds generous enough to adequately meet those needs and these humanitarian efforts will be greatly curtailed in their deeds of mercy to suffering humanity.

There are the burdens of those who have borne the heat and the toil of the day and face life's evening without sustenance. Often they have been noble souls who have made valuable contributions to society during their productive years, but for the want of someone to share their burdens with them, they end their days in loneliness.

The clouds which hang so low and ominous on the horizon of millions in the world today might be lifted if more of us were willing to bear their burdens with them. A friendly visit, a bouquet of flowers, a cool drink given in the Master's name, an offered prayer or a sympathetic word and a kindly smile may be all that is needed to make the burden lighter.

People need their flowers and kind words of encouragement far more when they are living and can appreciate them than when heaped upon them after they die. By so doing we will be fulfilling the law of Christ and manifesting His Spirit for He went about doing good to all those in need without regard to their social status.

No one need despair, however, even when all human help fails. The human soul in distress yearns for peace and may be inclined to say with the Psalmist: "O that I had wings like a dove, for then would I fly away and be at rest." It is folly to try to run away from trouble. It is worse than folly to try to drown one's troubles with drinking. God alone has the remedy, for He says, "Cast thy burden upon the Lord, and He will sustain thee." We have a Great High Priest, even Christ the only begotten Son of God, who is touched with a feeling of our infirmities because He has been tempted in all points like as we are yet without sin, and it is He who is standing at the right hand of the throne of God and making intercession in our behalf and; pleading our cause for us. If it is not God's will for the burden, the affliction or the thorn in the flesh to be removed, we have the positive assurance that God will supply his all-sufficient grace that we may be able to bear it and grow stronger under the weight of the cross that has been given to us.

While there are some burdens which we alone must bear as a natural consequence of our own personal commitment to our own actions, there are others which need to be shared with others. But underneath all of them we may find the "everlasting arms" of God to give us support and comfort and consolation in time of need.

REV. A. KRISTIAN JENSEN

Former Captive Of Reds in Korea To Speak Tuesday

Rev. A. Kristian Jensen, who spent three gruelling years as a prisoner of the Korean Communists, will be heard Tuesday night by delegations from Methodist churches throughout the Lima District. He will speak at First Methodist Church in Kenton. Several groups from Marion and the county are planning to go to Kenton for the district conference that day.

The speaker will tell something of the "philosophy" that kept him alive during the long period of his imprisonment which included a "death march" of soldier and civilian prisoners. Captured June 25, 1950, at Songdo, Korea when the Communists first marched south, he was released almost three years later, arriving in this country May 13 this year. His wife escaped from Seoul and returned eventually to America.

A native of Denmark, he came to this country in 1914 and worked as a laborer while acquiring a command of the English language. Graduated from Cornell College in Iowa and from Boston University School of Theology, he first went to Korea as a missionary in 1929.

Merger of Presbyterian Churches Step Nearer

CINCINNATI (AP)—The joining of three major Presbyterian churches into one body was one step nearer completion today with the adoption of a new merger plan.

The General Assemblies of the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. A., the Presbyterian Church in the U. S., and the United Presbyterian Church will be asked to approve the new organization in 1954.

The new Presbyterian church would number about 3½ million persons. The church, like other religious groups and institutions, was split over sectional issues arising out of the Civil War.

One inch of rain falling on an acre of land expends enough energy to plow 10 acres, a University of Illinois soil conservationist says.

D.U.C.T. Insurance
doesn't make sense

It's shocking but true — the average life insurance policy is only for $1,700. What's more, not even this pittance is really "life" insurance, for at the moment of maturity it often suddenly turns out to be "D.U.C.T." insurance — just about enough, usually, to pay for . . .
Debts
Undertaker
Cemetery
Tombstone
Yet, what's insurance for if not to provide for INCOME when the breadwinner is gone? And how far will the proceeds go if they are nibbled away from the very start? You may be sure that if the principal is drawn on at the very outset for cemetery and burial costs, other items will follow until the object of providing for the family's future is quickly destroyed.
To arrange for the family plot before need to make sensible provision for kindred expenses, is truly to "insure your insurance." No estate is complete until it includes the deed to a family plot.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

The Creative Power of Confidence

I was preparing to leave my office late one Sunday night when the telephone rang. The call was from a man I did not know; he said he was staying at a hotel in a nearby city.

DR. PEALE

"I just don't know what to do," he said. "I haven't been able to sleep. I'm so discouraged. I'm sunk. And tomorrow afternoon at 3 I have to meet the greatest crisis of my whole life. If things don't go right, I'm finished."

"Wait a minute," I told him. "How many years have you been allowed in life so far?"

"Forty-seven," he said.

"Haven't you got through a good many crises in all those years?" I reminded him. "Nothing is ever quite as bad as it sounds. Just say to yourself 'if things don't go right tomorrow, there'll be other days.'"

I COULD ALMOST feel him relax a bit at the other end of the line. "Maybe I'm too het up about this," he said. "What do you think is wrong with me?"

"Well," I answered, "I can't see you but, from our conversation, I would say you seem depressed."

"That's only half of it—I'm through."

"You won't get anywhere that way," I insisted. "If you lack confidence and affirm defeat, you will draw failure to you. If you have confidence and affirm faith, you draw success."

"How in the world," he demanded, "do I get confidence when I'm in a situation such as this?"

"Begin by asserting to yourself that you will stop worrying about tomorrow afternoon," I advised. "Then sit down in a chair and get calm and relaxed. Now tell me, who are you thinking about most?"

"Why, myself," he answered promptly.

"That's one reason you're depressed. You must immediately do something for someone else. Have you given anything to anyone lately?" I asked. "Or done anything for anyone?"

"No, I haven't," he admitted.

"Then go to the Salvation Army tomorrow morning and make a contribution. This will help you to forget yourself, to get outside yourself where your creative powers are bogged down. Then start to pray, not in a spirit of panic, but in calm faith that you are getting your answer. Pray a prayer of thanksgiving—be thankful you're well and strong enough to lift up the phone and talk to me, or anyone else."

MY CALLER agreed to try this. "You have a lot to be thankful about," I continued. "Your crisis needn't be a crisis—it can be an opportunity. Be thankful for that opportunity. And pray with faith and hope and expectancy and optimism. If you do this, I think that three o'clock engagement will turn out better than you think."

He said goodnight and I did not hear from him again until some months later, when he came to see me.

"Dr. Peale," he said, "when I called you, I was steeped in gloom. I couldn't think; I could not do anything. I'd lost all my confidence."

"Loss of confidence will always sap your creative ability," I told him.

"It sure did do that to me. But I followed your advice and began to build it up again. The results have been far better than I expected. You won't find me depressed again. I've learned to find confidence through faith."

How right he was! If you are depressed about anything, try the method that proved so effective for this man. Pray prayers of thanksgiving. Do something for someone else. Get outside yourself. Become calm and quiet and think of the text, "Give thanks unto the Lord, for He is good." Believe in and practice the creative power of confidence and it will work miracles in your life.

Marion Theater To Show Film 'South Sea Woman'

"South Sea Woman" starring Burt Lancaster and Virginia Mayo, and "16 Fathoms Deep" with Arthur Lake, Lon Chaney, Lloyd Bridges and Eric Feldary, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion Theater.

The former, an adventure comedy, is the story of two Marines and a beautiful blonde who are marooned at the outbreak of the war on a tropical island. The story in the latter is based on the adventurous lives of Florida's famed sponge divers. Lon Chaney is cast as the sponge-exchange head who tries to prevent a boatload of valuable sponges from reaching port in time for the cargo to be auctioned.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday are "Temptation" and "Forgotten Women."

"Bad Boy" starring Audie Murphy will be the main attraction of the double feature playing Thursday through Saturday. Completing the billing will be "Bad Men of Tombstone" costarring Barry Sullivan, Marjorie Reynolds and Broderick Crawford.

The latter picture depicts the ruthless era when gunmen imperiled the progress of the early west. Into the golderazed country comes Barry Sullivan with money hungry ambitions. He is jailed for an attempted holdup after losing his meager funds and horse to a crooked gambler, but escaped with gang leader Broderick Crawford, and joins the latter's desperado band which stages spectatular holdups.

Taylor, Granger, Blyth Star in Film at Palace

Starting Sunday and playing through Wednesday at the Palace Theater will be "All the Brothers Were Valliant," technicolor feature starring Robert Taylor, Stewart Granger and Ann Blyth and "The Steel Lady" with Rod Cameron and Tab Hunter.

The former takes place on a whaling vessel and concerns Joel Shore played by Robert Taylor who sails for the Gilbert Islands in search of whales and also to find his brother, Mark, portrayed by Stewart Granger, who supposedly jumped ship on its previous voyage.

"The Steel Lady" concerns a four man wildcat oil prospecting team in an old war transport plane which detects a rich oil field in the desert. The team is warned by the boss via radio to leave the territory because of the hostility of the natives. Their plane's engines fail during a sandstorm and the team, marooned in the desert, discover a nearby abandoned German tank of World War II which they repair and attempt to reach a French army post miles away.

"Appointment in Honduras" in technicolor and featuring Ann Sheridan and Glenn Ford is featured with "Marry Me Again" Thursday through Saturday. The latter stars Robert Cummings and Marie Wilson.

The former concerns Glenn Ford cast as an American rancher in Honduras, who is making delivery of money with which to fight revolutionists who have taken over the country. The adventure that follows as he attempts to meet the deposed president of Honduras in a remote section of jungle where the latter has found haven from the enemy forms the plot of the story.

"Marry Me Again" concerns the efforts of a beautiful but determined stenographer to marry her air ace boyfriend after she inherits a million dollars and he refuses for fear that he will be accused of marrying her for her money.

'Desert Legion' on Bill With 'Gun Belt' at State

Two technicolor films, "Desert Legion" and "Gun Belt," will be the double feature attraction Sunday and Monday at the State Theater. The former stars Alan Ladd and Arlene Dahl, and heading the cast in the latter is George Montgomery.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday are "Girls of Pleasant Island" in technicolor and starring Leo Genn and Elsa Lanchester, and "Cat People" with Simone Simon and Jack Holt.

Emlyn Williams and Eve Arden are the stars of the film, "Three Husbands," which will be the main attraction of the double feature Thursday and Friday. Completing the billing will be "California Firebrand" starring Monte Hale.

Saturday only the attractions will be "City Beneath The Sea," in technicolor, starring Robert Ryan and Mala Powers, and "Robinhood of Texas" with Gene Autry.

'The Veils of Bagdad' To Open Sunday at Ohio

"The Veils of Bagdad," main attraction of a double feature showing today through Thursday at the Ohio Theater, re-creates the high adventure of the 15th Century Ottoman Empire and the glory and intrigue of Bagdad. The stars are Victor Mature and Mari Blanchard. It is in technicolor.

Completing the billing will be another technicolor film, "Tumbleweed" starring Audie Murphy, Lorie Nelson and Chill Wills.

Victor Mature is seen in the former as the avenging Antar, who plots against the evil ruler of Bagdad.

The story in the latter is concerned with an outsider accused of having sold out a wagon train to raiding Apaches. As a brave youngster he grows into a hardened man fleeing from the shadow of the noose while hunting down the Yaqui Chief who alone can vindicate him.

Starting Friday will be another double feature, "Jack Slade" starring Mark Stevens and Dorothy Malone, and "The Royal African Introduced by John Schuller of Marion local representative of the company, Fitzpatrick showed a film of the high-speed calculating machines at the Atomic Energy Commission site at Los Alamos, N. M., which is used for calculating pertinent information relative to the building and testing of guided missiles. The calculaters are capable of solving problems in a matter of minutes which would ordinarily take one man a lifetime to compute, the speaker pointed out.

Roy Pierce of the Eaton Manufacturing Co. was enrolled as a member.

Guests included John Schooley and Virgil Cornelius, both of Columbus, and Robert Tice of Marion. Schooley was the architect and Cornelius the engineer for the new YMCA building here.

Mercury Crosses Sun

NEW YORK — The planet Mercury moves across the Sun today in a rare astronomical drama last seen in its entirety from the United States in 1894.

The event known as the "Transit of Mercury," occurs with Mercury passing directly between the Earth and the Sun in essentially the same manner as the moon does in an eclipse of the sun.

Mercury, the smallest planet in the solar system, is too small for the naked eye to see it against the blazing sun.

Auto Insurance Costs To Rise in Ohio Monday

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Insurance costs will increase for many Ohio motorists starting Monday.

The increases will result from a new classification schedule for private automobile insurance accepted by the state division of state superintendent of insurance, says owners insuring with firms in the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters will get some cuts, but those insuring with members of the Ohio Bureau of Casualty Underwriters will receive increases.

He said the new classification schedule will cause Ohio bureau rates to line up substantially with rates filed by the national bureau. The Ohio bureau will revise its rates Monday, Robinson said.

Russia Can Undersell West

New Factor May Affect Tariff Battle in Congress

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)— An economic battle which some see shaping up between Russia and the West could play a part in the big battle over tariffs which seems sure to break in the coming session of the U S Congress.

American business firms are already choosing up sides. Among advocates of lowering trade barriers are those with goods to sell abroad. Urging more protection are some who see cheaper foreign-made goods threatening their industries. The battle will be the more bitter because a period of keener trade competition seems just ahead.

The coming tariff battle in Congress will be a top topic when 2,000 businessmen engaged in foreign commerce and investment meet here next week with some high government officials for the 40th National Foreign Trade Convention.

William S. Swingle, president of the sponsoring group, the National Foreign Trade Council, points out stakes Americans now have in foreign trade.

In 1914 American export and import trade in goods and services added up to five billion dollars. Today it's well over 30 billion. If world trade barriers could be lowered by some miracle or other, it doubtless would be much higher.

President Eisenhower's 17-man commission on foreign economic policy is in Paris today hearing what the Europeans think about the chances of doing that.

Europeans, of course, want help from the United States to continue —whether in the form of more military funds or in lower American tariffs.

One argument they are stressing is that Russia and its satellites are at last in a position to produce increasing quantities of consumer goods.

Russia's low labor standards would put her in a position to undersell the West. That would make the Soviets and their satellites economic rivals both of Western Europe and of American industry in fighting for trade with many backward areas.

Europeans contend they need lower American tariffs and more trade here to build up their economic strength for the coming tussle.

Some Americans aren't so sure. They doubt if Russia can produce or sell enough to matter much.

Rifles," co-starring Louis Hayward and Veronica Hurst.

The former is a drama based on the life of one of the West's most colorful lawmen. Jack Slade made his reputation as an agent for the Overland Stage Lines, operating out of Julesburg, Colo., in the late 1850's. He seldom arrested anyone who interfered with the operation of the stages. He shot them down, killing some 20 men during his lifetime. He and Dorothy Malone are thrown together in a love affair destined from the start to have a tragic ending.

"The Royal African Rifles," played against a background of British East Africa, is a story of stolen machine guns and an attempt to get them into the hands of forces opposed to colonial rule prior to the outbreak of World War I.

The steel barges now being pushed up and down the Mississippi River carry three times the tonnage that steamboats hauled in their heyday about a century ago.

Youths' Freedom Topic of Program

"Is Youth Given Too Much Freedom" will be discussed on the Marion Youth Forum program Sunday.

Marion teenagers who will make up the panel are Rosemary Baxter, Harding High senior; Doug Bibler, senior class president and co-captain of the football team; Nancy Stumbo, freshman at Eberly Baker Junior High School where she is secretary of the Student Council; Roberta Russell, freshman at Taft Junior High; and John Gunthrie, freshman and president of the Edison Junior High Student Council. City school director of curriculum Harold Edwards, serves as moderator for the weekly programs, heard from 3:05-3:30 p.m. each Sunday over WMRN. This will be the forum's third broadcast.

Listeners are asked to phone in questions while the program is in progress or to offer suggestions for forthcoming programs during the week.

Next Sunday's topic will be "How Can Relations Between Youth and Parents Be Improved."

The Union of South Africa has a separate capital for each branch of government — Pretoria, residence of the governor general; Cape Town, seat of the legislature and Bloemfontein, headquarters of the national judiciary.

IN THE SERVICE

Naval Aviation Cadet Richard A. Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl H. Hale of Upper Sandusky, has qualified as a carrier pilot after six successful landings on board the USS Monterey in the Gulf of Mexico near Pensacola, Fla.

Cadet Hale attended Purdue University for three years prior to entering the Naval Aviation Cadet Program through the U. S. Naval Air Station at Glenview, Ill., the close of his junior year at Purdue. He has been stationed at Pensacola for the past year and a one-half.

In a talk to his parents by telephone recently, Cadet Hale told them he was leaving soon for Corpus Christi, Tex., for training in combat type aircraft. He will receive his Navy wings upon his graduation from the advanced training there.

Hale began his training at the Naval Air Station at Pensacola where he underwent a stringent schedule in military, academic, physical and flight training and later took instrument flight training at the Naval Auxiliary Air Station at nearby Corry Field.

He is a member of the famed Pensacola Aviation Cadet Choir which appeared on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" program Sunday, Nov. 1. At Purdue Hale was a college cheerleader and a member of the university choir. He was a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity and was majoring in business administration there.

He was graduated from Upper Sandusky High School in 1949. There he was a member of the school choir and band and active in all school musical activities.

His mother, the former Miss Winona Holmes, is a former resident of Marion. She was graduated from Marion High School here and for a number of years taught school at Oakland Heights. Mrs. Hales's sister, Mrs. Louise Lister, a school teacher at Glenwood school, resides at 256 S. Vine St.

Seaman Jerry Baker and Mrs. Baker have returned to Brooklyn, N.Y., after spending a five-day emergency leave here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Baker of Waldo. He was called home because of the illness of his mother. He has been in service 28 months and is serving aboard a tanker which is docked in Brooklyn. Mrs. Baker is the former Joan Klingel of near Waldo.

Pfc. John A. Schwall 21, son of Fred Schwall of near Galion, is currently serving as a mechanic at the Taegu Military Post maintenance shop in Korea. He entered the service in July of 1952. Prior to that he was a student at Mt. Union College and a brakeman for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

5 Million Fellows Named Jones

Who Makes the United States Strong?

NEW YORK (AP)— What makes America strong?

It's that fellow Jones — the guy the neighbors are trying to keep up with.

Who is he? What is he? What does he believe in?

Jones is the sparkplug of the great middle class which is the bedrock strength of any well-balanced nation.

Depending on where he lives, Jones may be a farmer, a small businessman, a skilled craftsman, or a white collar office worker.

He probably has only a high school education but he didn't quit learning after he enrolled in the college of experience.

Jones doesn't understand the cynicism of the idle rich or the envious poor. His own chief quality is an enthusiastic love of living. He is proud he has fared a bit better in life than perhaps his father did, and he wants to do even better.

Money is not his god but he has a healthy respect for it—and likes to spend it to make life more comfortable for himself and his family.

Jones is no intellectual and would rather could be called a lowbrow than a highbrow, but doesn't want to be regarded as either. His basic ideas and virtues are old-fashioned but still widely popular. He believes in patriotism, fair play and thinks hard work is the best formula for getting ahead.

He owns a house and a car and is in debt for both—but he is meeting the payments. He has a life insurance policy, belongs to a lodge and a church, and sometimes on rainy days feels guilty because he skips going to church more often than he misses a lodge meeting.

Jones clings to tradition in many ways. It makes him uneasy to see so many of his friends' marriages break up in divorce. He likes the idea of having one wife and one life at a time.

But he is an adventurer in his own way. He likes to try out new gadgets and new work methods. Farmer Jones was one of the first in his county to employ contour plowing. Skilled Craftsman Jones won a company bonus for a simple time-saving idea in his plant.

In every community it is Jones who is first to buy a television set, a new kind of motor car, or air-conditioning machine for his home. It is one of his virtues that he wants to take the first step in his neighborhood toward anything he thinks will make life better.

Jones thinks of himself as a fairly nice guy, and he is. He doesn't turn away when the solicitor for the Red Cross or the Community Fund comes his way. He crabs about the income tax but his biggest ambition is to get his income into a bracket that will give him the right to holler even louder.

Sometimes Jones wishes he saved more and didn't have to live quite so close to each payday. He'd like to be piling up a bigger nestegg to leave his kids when he goes, but, after all, what's life insurance for, except that?

There are days when worry over the atom and hydrogen bomb shadows his thoughts, but actually his greatest fear is hard times, because he has known them in the past.

At heart Jones wants most to go on being a social pioneer of the 20th century, doing his part in making America more prosperous —and enjoying a rich full life. He is an eternal optimist.

If old age and illness ever catch up with him, Jones will be the first guy in his neighborhood with a jet-propelled wheelchair.

Who is Jones? There are five million Joneses in America. Look around you. Jones is the guy you probably envy because he gets more things done—and a greater kick out of living—than you do.

Jones is simply the man who could be if you had the sense to give yourself a booster shot.

Bender Calls Hearing On Farm Reorganization

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) has set Dec. 3 for hearings by a House government operations subcommittee on Secretary of Agriculture Benson's reorganization of the Soil Conservation Service.

Called originally earlier this month, the hearings were postponed to permit Benson to make an inspection trip through the drought areas of the West.

In calling the hearings originally, Bender urged Benson to delay putting the reorganization of the Soil Conservation Service into effect because of controversy existing over the plan.

Another Kind of Mousetrap

Harry Truman found plenty of precedent for his decision to turn down a congressional subpoena to testify about events while he was president of the United States

But while explaining why his legal position was as sound as that of witnesses who have claimed the protection of the fifth amendment to get out of testifying, Mr Truman 'mousetrapped' himself to use the jargon of football

He rushed headlong into an opening which let his opponents close in behind him and take him out of the play

The tip-off came when the congressional investigators cheerfully accepted his refusal to testify and announced they were well-satisfied with his decision

He has no chance now to explain why he was so vague about an adverse FBI report on the late Harry Dexter White which James F Byrnes clearly recalls having discussed with Truman in the White House

He has no chance to confirm in case it's true a report that the strange handling of the White appointment may have been part of a plan to keep a hot suspect in place where he could be closely watched

Before all the story of the weird mishandling of the Communist spy ring in Washington during the Roosevelt-Truman era is told, Harry Truman may be begging for a chance to defend himself before a congressional investigating committee

He's the one that history has put on the defensive

Frank J. Lausche: An Expert

Agriculture Secretary Benson needed the unexpected pat on the back he got from Ohio Gov Lausche in Columbus

Since Lausche is an expert in politics Benson can take the Ohio governor's word for it that the fitness of Benson's principles and the intense patriotism in his motives are making an impression

While Benson was talking in Columbus about the importance of putting agriculture back on its own feet the National Milk Producers Federation was adopting a resolution about self reliance at its annual meeting in Houston

The federation instructed its officers to draft a proposed law which would let dairy farmers operate their own stabilization plan with no further help from the federal treasury no further subsidies for overproduction and no further interference by the government in any form

This is one more manifestation of a deep-seated conviction among farmers that agriculture's problem is the price of subsidy are too much to pay that price supports are doomed to fail in the long run because they always turn out to be an incentive to over-produce

Secretary Benson is trying to bring about a change He can take Gov Lausche's word for it that his courage is winning admiration from those who understand what he is up against

He can keep plugging away, in spite of the catcalls he is hearing from the opposition There is more politics than agriculture behind the catcalls, as farmers will find out for themselves as the debate continues

The Right To Start Fresh

A statement which appeared in a recent Saturday Evening Post article 'The Question No Communist Can Answer," is destined to be recorded around the world

Dr Morris A Pei author of the article summed up the meaning of freedom in these words

Freedom is where you can get out if you want to Freedom is where if you don't like it you can tell them to go away That is your basic right — the right to quit"

Dr Pei would have every person who is unsure about the essence of freedom ask the slaves of Communism to tell what it is They know

They cannot quit when they feel like it Physically and mentally they are held prisoner

Freedom is not perfect but men and women who live in freedom can go away from what they don't like

No slave of Communism has that privilege

The Push-Button Era

As we plunge further into the push-button era, let us not overlook information made by Kenneth Wade of the Atlanta Journal and Constitution C W Lyell in England has devised a radio gadget to keep him apprised of the location of his ferret

It might be inserted that a ferret is a little animal looking much like a weasel but slightly larger which is much used by rabbit hunters abroad The little creature is cared for tenderly and it comes quite tame It can be trained to drag down a rabbit hole and bring up its victim undevoured

Lyell's occasional ferret goes down a hole, takes a nap or an excursion, and comes up when it feels so inclined Mr Lyell is a zealot for ferret industry and apparently an electronic genius as well Now with his gadget he knows at all times just where his ferret is

The possibilities of this idea are disconcerting, indeed When a man wearing earphones can know precisely what his bird or coon dogs are doing perhaps even what they are thinking confidence in man's best friend may plummet

Truman in Awkward Spot on White Case

Former President Truman has placed himself in an awkward if not untenable position before the public by his refusal to comply with a subpena from the House un-American Activities Committee

Mr Truman says he cannot be compelled by law to testify about any events that happened while he held the presidential office but recently he contracted with Life Magazine for a price of reportedly around $600 000 to write about events which will include the period of his service in the White House

Shall the American people be denied by reason of an arbitrary refusal by a private citizen information affecting vitally the security of the nation — that is about the lax procedures that have prevented prompt detection of security risks in their government

Shall the reason given by Mr Truman to Congress that a former president cannot be compelled to testify about public matters be accepted as precedent now? For if so then every former official can plead the same excuse hereafter

MR TRUMAN was paid a high salary by the people of the United States What he did while in office constitutes information belonging to the people

There has been a quibble as to whether it would have been better to 'invite Mr Truman as a matter of courtesy' rather than to summon him by subpena but the reply given formally to the House committee now indicates that Mr Truman refuses either voluntarily or as a result of subpena to give any information which Congress seeks

It is a well established principle of constitutional law that once a witness does give a partial answer and opens up the subject matter he can be required to answer further or be adjudged in contempt

By analogy Mr Truman has opened up the subject matter by a statement in the press declaring that when he found out Harry Dexter White was 'disloyal' he [illegible] fired him

Congress has a right to have those statements made under oath and to ask that the record be supplied which shows that even if the resignation on April 7 1947 by White was forced nothing in the laudatory letter written by the former president when White terminated his employment indicates it

CONGRESS and the American people have a right to know what took place at the conference which the then secretary of state James F Byrnes held with Mr Truman on Feb 6 1946 when Mr Byrnes urged that White's commission for his new post be held up

Who were the persons present at the meeting and why didn't the president act later as he had seemed to be willing to act on the Byrnes suggestion?

The explanation that Mr Truman had been advised as a matter of legal procedure that once an appointment had been confirmed by the Senate he was in duty bound to issue the commission seems puzzling in view of the action that Mr Truman himself took through Secretary Matthews of the Navy who contended before the Tydings committee in 1951 that the removal in October 1950 of Admiral Denfeld chief of naval operations was legal because the commission signed by Mr Truman had not actually been authorized to be delivered to him and had gotten to Denfeld in an unauthorized manner The confirmation by the Senate had taken place several weeks before

Mr Truman's loyalty or fidelity to his country is not an issue and has never been despite efforts of Truman followers to confuse the matter by claiming such an implication was made by Attorney General Brownell It was laxity in procedure alone to which Mr Brownell called attention

LAMAR CAUDLE, former assistant attorney general in the criminal division of the Department of Justice under the Truman administration has testified that last Oct 13 he disclosed to the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee the existence of the so-called second FBI memorandum about Harry Dexter White dated Feb 4 1946

He did so in answer to a question by a committee investigator who evidently had heard about it

So Mr Brownell could have made public all the data that he covered in his speech of last Friday several weeks earlier — indeed during the campaign itself if he were seeking political advantage

The fact that he did not speak [illegible] until all the special campaigns for Congress were about over is a sign that he did not as the Democrats claim, act for political purposes in his 'timing

Mr Truman had an excellent opportunity to put his case before the people by declining to accept a subpena but offering to appear voluntarily without subpena

Whichever way the testimony is to be obtained is not important, for it seems doubtful that the Democrats will wish to permit their former leader to take the side of concealment and suppression as against full publicity of the facts in his possession

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew We are glad to know you are back on the job and earning your own way once more Don't ask us if we missed you, because we didn't

What we did miss, like an itching tooth that had been quieted down, was your oft repeated proposition that the dam has burst therefore all of us should run for the hills

It was nice to know you had taken to the hills for pleasure this time instead of terror We know the experience would be good for you Both your aunt and I could be sure of this because we were confident you had been raised right and good breeding ultimately would prevail

When we received your report on what you did and thought while you were away we stifled the impulse to say, We knew it all the time

This is what I am getting at in my roundabout way

Anyone who has been given an old-fashioned bringing up in history ethics and the virtues should be able to take a long view of current problems The trouble is that the problems keep closing in until they finally overwhelm us

That's when it's time to get perspective

Go to the hills and be reminded of the microscopic proportions of men Go to the caves and rediscover what men have observed about men in other times

Go to the histories and biographies and learn anew that the more things change the more they are the same Only yesterday I had occasion to point out to a fellow who thought our politics were roughing it up a bit that this republic was born politically so rough that today's version is smooth and blandly contrived

For our peace of mind we need a stronger sense of integration with time and space I've always had a hunch farmers had the drop on apartment house dwellers and the denizens of crowded slums in this respect

The farmers never lose sight of their utter dependence on the natural world for their existence It seems significant to me in this respect that farmers are being criticized by city people for taking subsidies like everybody else instead of being praised for being dubious about this practice unlike everybody else So far as I know they're the only citizens of the republic who have expressed any doubts about the practice of putting a floor under their purchasing power

Anyway the world spins on and on through one emergency after another until finally no man of sense can think of it as an emergency any more unless just being alive is an emergency

Your aunt and I have learned to think of being alive as just one hum drum emergency after another We both have a strong sense of turmoil We have been waiting for you to go the idea that cosmic balance itself is a process of vast forces being plated against one another eternally

That's why we are glad to know you're back on the job and sharpening your teeth for Thanksgiving I am pushing the corn down those two turkeys as fast as they'll take it They have much to be thankful for while getting ready to remind us how much we have to be thankful for

It will be nice to have everybody together on Thanksgiving Day even if it's only for a few hours Meanwhile, our regards to everybody

Postal Rate Battle Faces Congress

By Raymond Moley

Let us begin with a truism which I have used before but which I trust deserves repetition

[illegible]

With a grateful nod to Abraham Lincoln we can say that you can subsidize some of the people all the time and all the people some of the time but you can't subsidize all the people all the time

Somewhere, sometime somehow this roundelay of government benefits must stop

Alexander Hamilton sowed dragon's teeth when as the first secretary of the treasury he advocated subsidies for manufactures to build up infant industries in an infant nation The vast structure of a protective tariff followed

THEN TO LEAP over a century or more in our story farmers demanded and got under the New Deal what they called tariff equality' which means that since the farmer buys things that he needs in a protected or subsidized market his products should be protected and subsidized, too

The demand we are beginning to hear now is from the mining people some of whom are saying that the price of their product should be protected

For some time we have heard from advocates of subsidies for farmers workers and others that the press is subsidized by below cost second-class mail rates

Such charges have been most vigorously made by politicians like the late Harold Ickes who generally have been opposed by a majority of the press

BUT CONGRESS has been slow to raise those rates although a beginning has been made There was a 10 per cent raise in 1952 another 10 per cent in 1953 and another 10 per cent to be effective in 1954

However a bill is now pending to increase magazine rates 67 per cent in 36 months

This bill will be a controversial issue in the next session of Congress

For more than a century and a half there have been preferential postal rates for newspapers and magazines

[illegible]

These have been justified by presidents postmasters general and congressmen because of the value of publications in disseminating information and in providing inexpensive educational material for the people.

THE PRESENT situation is complicated by the fact that there are big strong newspapers and magazines and there are small and not well financed newspapers and magazines

The big ones say with truth that they could sustain the big rates Some national magazines would with some readjustment, survive and prosper

They would either raise the price to the reader or find other ways to carry their product — by private airlines, by rail, truck, or otherwise

[illegible]

But hundreds of smaller publications some of them religious educational or scientific would perish Some farm papers would find hard going

THE QUESTION whether a subsidy is deserved or desirable is not however the present argument of the publishers

They are raising the question whether present rates are in fact, ignominiously below cost In short, they deny that they are really receiving subsidy

It seems to me that to be consistent, that should be the major point.

Use for Shooting Stars

By Thomas R. Henry

The thousands of shooting stars which hit the earth's stratosphere each hour are proving a new radio roof for the world.

This has just been reported to the Office of Naval Research in Washington by Dr Oswald G Villard, of Stanford University, who is investigating this field under a Navy contract

This roof which reflects radio signals, makes possible he says, reliable short wave transmission over distances up to 1 000 miles, 24 hours a day throughout the year without interruptions due to atmospheric conditions at high altitudes.

It is well known that long-distance transmission of any kind is possible only because of a series of electrified layers in the upper atmosphere which are created by radiation from the sun

From these layers radio waves are bounced back to the earth which bounces them back into the air again.

Otherwise they would pass into space like visible light and the utmost possible transmission distance would be to just beyond the horizon

The shorter the waves the more easily they pass through the reflecting layers

These layers vary greatly in thickness and continuity with the amount of sunlight the season and various other factors

They tend to become quite tenuous sometimes nonexistent at night especially in winter when short wave transmission beyond the horizon is quite unreliable

Now D Villard points out there is a layer at an altitude of about 70 miles which is electrified by an entirely different means the electrical trails left by shooting stars burning because of friction with the atmosphere

Unlike the electrification caused by sunlight this does not change appreciably with season or time of day

If anything it is at its best during a winter night The number of meteors arriving from outer space is approximately constant

The average size is about that of a grain of sand They pass with the speed of rifle bullets through the exosphere upper atmosphere which [illegible] is to be essential [illegible] existence

At an altitude of about 70 miles however, the air becomes thick enough to produce an appreciable friction

The meteors become incandescent and leave ionized or electrical trails, as they are reduced to fine dust.

Very few—on the average night a maximum of eight or 10 an hour—are visible as shooting stars Actually the number is almost unaccountable This has been revealed strikingly by radio echoes during the past few years

Work carried on especially at the Bureau of Standards and by English investigators has shown great showers of these tiny objects during daylight hours when it would be impossible to see any of them The radio echoes come directly back to the receiver at the point from which they are sent

It now is found Dr Villard says that an appreciable amount of the ultraviolet energy is reflected back to the earth at a geometrical [illegible] as they are reflected from electrified layers produced by the sun

All that is necessary is that they be sent out at the proper angles and at the right frequencies

Thus it appears he says, that the many thousands of tiny meteors which bombard the earth's atmosphere at all times are about to be put to a practical use—that of providing a reliable method of communication over distances of the order of 1 000 miles

By taking advantage of the dispersive properties of ionized layers in addition to their well known reflecting properties the capacity of the now overcrowded high frequency spectrum can be greatly expanded

Many channels now silent for so many hours of the day and year will at last be made to work around the clock

Truck Accident Death Toll on Turnpike Down

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP)—A safety expert says the truck accident death toll on the Pennsylvania Turnpike has dropped to the lowest point in history.

O. D. Shipley, safety director for the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn., told the first annual convention of the Pennsylvania Cooperative Safety Patrol yesterday trucks caused only 11 of the 82 fatalities on the super highway so far this year.

This represents 13.4 per cent of all deaths, Shipley said, compared with 15.2 per cent in 1947. He said the rate has been declining steadily since then.

Shipley noted passenger vehicles traveled 74 per cent of the total mileage recorded on the turnpike in 1953 and accounted for 86.1 per cent of the deaths.

Dr. Gordon McKay, member of the Ohio Turnpike Commission, said the new Ohio toll road is expected to be in full operation by October of 1955. It will hook up with the western end of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Girl's Abductor Identified, Auto Found in N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—The car in which an ex-convict abducted a 13-year-old girl after terrorizing her family in a pre-dawn robbery yesterday was found early today on a Manhattan street.

Police searched for Anthony James Palazzola, 26, identified from photos by the girl, Dorothea del Longo, as the man who kidnaped her, held her captive in a hotel room several hours, then let her out of his car on a Queens street.

First police reports said the girl was not harmed. Later, authorities said she had been raped. Dorothea originally said she had not been molested. When taken away she was attired in blue pajamas under a topcoat.

A man entered the apartment of James Botticelli, the girl's stepfather, at 4 a.m. (EST) yesterday, punched Botticelli in the face, demanded money and liquor and stayed on for an hour before leaving with the girl, $100 in cash, a portable radio and a tape recorder machine.

Dorothea said the man took her to a hotel on East 70th Street and then drove aimlessly around Manhattan and Long Island.

He talked and boasted a great deal, she said, but became alarmed after listening to radio accounts of the police search for him.

He gave her $5 taxi fare, handed her the portable radio and recording machine, and let her out of the car in Woodside, Queens, across the East River from her home. A telephone operator on her way to work noticed the girl and took her to police.

Last night the night clerk at the hotel where the child was held was arrested on charges of impairing the morals of a minor.

Youth's Homemade Explosive Causes Furor in Louisville, Ky.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jules Kaplan's chemistry lesson began in the basement of his home this week and ended 500 feet out in the Ohio River.

Some of his teachers along the way included firemen, policemen, Coast Guardsmen and an Army detonation team.

They spent a tense two hours disposing of the 17-year-old boy's product—a test tube of nitro-glycerine equivalent to about two pounds of TNT.

With more than a year's experience in chemistry and a textbook to guide him, Jules figured he could make nitro-glycerine, so he borrowed the ingredients from school Thursday and went to work in his basement.

The next day he began brooding about his achievement and called the Fire Prevention Bureau.

Since it had no nitro experts, the bureau communicated with Ft. Knox and was told to evacuate the eight people in the house.

Several hours later, two fire cars arrived, followed by a jeep with bomb experts from the Army post. They poured to frothing liquid into a metal pail filled with sawdust, carried it to the fire car and headed for the river, where a Coast Guard boat was waiting.

A safe distance from shore, the pail was lowered into the water at the end of a 50-foot rope and sank from sight.

"You could hear the silence," said fire prevention Inspector Franklin Morgan. "And then you could ear seven sighs of relief."

At home, Jules also breathed a sigh of relief. But he added:

"It hasn't dampened my enthusiasm for science."

Hostesses Say It's Easy

Successful Entertaining Thrives on Use of Head

By SAM DAY
AP Newsfeatures

SAN FRANCISCO — What do you do when conversation dwindles into deadly silence or when guests clashing temperaments threaten your party?

To at least two hostesses of the San Francisco area these are not problems at all

These poised women are Mrs Clark Kerr wife of the chancellor of the University of California and Mrs Bee Gomar a leading lady of San Francisco s International Settlement which in a bygone day was known as the Barbary Coast

'Successful entertaining is just a question of using your head says Mrs Kerr. "Anybody can do it'

The place to begin adds the chancellor s wife is the guest list

Mutual Interests Help

Whenever possible invite people who are interested in the same things she says But they don t have to be specialists in the same field

Mrs Kerr who has been hostess to an average of 100 persons a month in her home thus far this year gives as an example a party she planned recently for the Indian consul general of San Francisco She reserved a special place on the guest lists for a group of university students who had just returned from a good will tour of India She did not expect any lulls in the conversation — and there weren t any

Mrs Gomar s home has been a meeting ground for more than 26 years for a traditionally temperamental lot—the big and little people of show business

She applies a similar procedure in slightly different form She says she often lets the guest of honor choose the guests, just to be on the safe side

'I just say 'Honey whom do you love in town?' Mrs Gomar explains 'The guest of honor tells me and that s that How can you miss that way?'

Mrs Gomar and her husband operate the Gay Nineties night club in San Francisco They like the university chancellor and his wife live across the Bay in Berkeley There they entertain almost all the city s visiting actors.

Guests Studied

Mrs Kerr has a little rule study up in advance on your guests —

It makes all the difference in the world s reports Mrs Kerr if you can say something about Mr Jones his s Mr Smith He just returned from Mexico City where you visited last summer That gives them something to go on

At large parties Mrs Kerr and the chancellor like to circulate in different parts of the house ready to rescue the occasional guest who gets lost in a corner and to steer him toward someone he d like to meet

'Mixing of people however is a question of rescuing the guest of honor Mrs Kerr remarks in recalling a recent reception A group of ardent students and professors fixed a conversational stranglehold on Chester Bowles former U S Ambassador to India

Firmness Pays

'It was too much ' says Mrs Kerr Finally I just had to go up and take them by the arms and say Gentlemen I want you to meet Mrs Bowles'"

This sort of firmness is used well by Mrs Gomar also When it comes to the wing a good party for the finest stage stars Mrs Gomar sometimes will juggle the seating arrangement to put editors rivals at opposite ends of the table Rarely is there a free up but if there is 'I just tip it and take over decades this experienced hostess

Actors are like anyone else when it comes to being entertained Mrs Gomar adds They like to drop their professional names and come to a party as ordinary folks and the hostess who tries to exploit her guests will not be a hostess for long

Club Women Here Will Be Addressed By News Analyst

The World at the Moment' is the topic to be discussed by Dorothy Fuldheim Cleveland lecturer and current news analyst Thursday evening at the YMCA under the sponsorship of the Marion County Federation of Women s Clubs The meeting scheduled for 8 15 o clock will be in the chapel room

As in former years the meeting is open to club members and club patronesses without charge and is the first of the 1953 54 season for the Federation Miss Fuldheim also will speak at the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club at Hotel Harding

One of the best informed women on the American platform today her keen insight to world situations and her analysis of world affairs have brought her a national reputation as a lecturer and news analyst

For many years she has wandered through Europe interviewing political leaders renewing acquaintances and making a comprehensive study of the ever changing situations Because of her challenging criticisms she was banned from Germany by the Nazis

For twenty years Miss Fuldheim has been analyzing national and international affairs with uncanny accuracy Her familiarity with history literature and science give her an authoritative background her wit her fearlessness and her eloquence mark her as one of the country s outstanding speakers

Back in the 1930 s she forecast that Germany would pull down the pillars of the Twentieth Century and in her early analysis of Il Duce she catalogued him as an evil coward '

FIGHT FOR SUPREMACY. An instinctive contest handed down through eons of time is shown in this scene in San Francisco's Golden Gate park: two big bucks locking horns for leadership of the herd. The 500-pound white buck deer at right had ruled unchallenged for three years. Then eight days before the photo was taken the young nine-point buck at left fought the leader for two hours. Like the first battle, the one shown was inconclusive. But keepers fear further violence.

Agreement Seen On Trieste Talks

ROME (AP)—Speculation that Yugoslavia and Italy may agree to early talks on the thorny Trieste issue mounted today following hush-hush meetings of Western Big Three diplomats with Rome and Belgrade authorities.

U. S. Ambassador to Italy Clare Boothe Luce, French Ambassador Jacques Fouques Duparc and British Charge d'Affaires Archibald Ross called separately yesterday on an Italian foreign office undersecretary representing Premier Giuseppe Pella, currently on a trip to Turkey.

The discussions in both capitals were wrapped in tight secrecy, but well-informed sources in Rome said the meetings concerned a proposed five-power conference to try settling the future of Trieste. The informant described the talks as "informal soundings" on future moves and said no definite proposals were made.

October Fire Losses Climb, Chief Reports

Fire losses in Marion last month were up more than double losses in October the previous year, Fire Chief Owen A. Sifritt reported today.

Last month city firemen answered 73 calls and estimated total fire loss at $3,286. A year ago total loss was $1,307 in 54 fire calls answered.

In fighting the fires last month, firemen used 8,100 feet of one-inch hose, 200 feet of 1½-inch hose, and 350 feet of 2½-inch hose. They also used buckets of water four times, brooms 13 times, garden hose once, carbon dioxide extinguishers once, gas detectors three times, and one blaze was smothered out. Firemen also raised 48 feet of ladders during the month.

Total cost of department operations was $13,081 with $12,265 of this amount paid for salaries. The remainder went for miscellaneous supplies and service charges.

Boy, 3, Too Frightened To Run, Dies in Blaze

RIPLEY, Ohio (AP) — Three-year-old Vincent Thompson, apparently too frightened to run to safety, died yesterday as he hid under a bed while fire swept through his home in nearby East Ripley.

The boy's aunt, Mrs. Russell Thompson, rescued his two sisters, Shirley, 1, and Charlene, 4.

Mrs. Thompson outside when she noticed the fire, ran into the house, picked up the baby and told her other girl and the boy to follow her. She didn't know Vincent wasn't with her until she was outside.

Harding, St. Mary End Grid Campaigns With Wins

Presidents Whip Sandusky To Finish With 6-2-1 Mark

By JOHN SHORT

A one-yard touchdown plunge late in the second quarter by Doug Bibler was all the Harding Presidents needed last night at Sandusky but they came in with a two-TD spurt in the third stanza to whip the Blue Streaks 18-0.

The win concluded the Harding season and gave Coach Pete Howison's charges a season record of six wins, two losses and a tie.

Defense Shines

Last night more than at any time during the season, the Prexies' defensive unit came in for its share of glory. The air-tight defense held the Blue Streaks to a gain of 65 yards during the battle. Fifty-two of that was netted on the ground. Only once was the home team inside Harding territory and that came on the second series of downs for the Streaks. The losers rolled from their own 25 to the Harding 21 early in the game before Harding's defenders became accustomed to the offensive formation used by Jeff DeHaven's team. DeHaven runs his attack from a T formation used by Gen. Bob Neyland at Tennessee.

Lined up in a split T the team can run from a basic T pattern or for power plays with the snap going directly to the deepman. Once the Prexies solved the attack, the Streaks were finished.

Hit by Injuries

Due to a series of injuries which riddled the Harding camp, the Prexies went into the game on even terms with the hapless Streaks. They remained that until late in the second frame when Gary Murray set them back with a recovered kick which covered 51 yards and rolled dead at the Harding 40. Doug Bibler, Chet King and Gary Ballinger, directed by Fred Price, lugged to the 44 where Tom Hazen was roughed while kicking. That set up the first score with a first down at the Streaks' 40. Ballinger picked up 13 in powering his way through the line and from there the team rolled to a first down at the five. Three plays were needed before Bibler, who ended his high school football career, plowed over tackle from the one.

Taking the second half kickoff, the winners drove for the clinching score. The drive covered 77 yards and was highlighted by another power run by "Chug" Ballinger. He skirted end from his own 44, shook loose from three tacklers and after a hard block by Gene Armstrong scotted to the 26. A holding penalty set the Prexies back 15 yards and set up the picture play of the game.

Hamor Romps

With Armstrong and King down field for a screen pass, the ball bounced from King's finger tips into the hands of Bob Hamor at the Harding 40. Hamor gathered in the ball and tightroped his way down the sideline to paydirt. He was sent on his way by Armstrong, who threw his second path clearing block of the game. It was the first touchdown in the career of Hamor, a leading candidate for All-Ohio honors as a tackle.

The Prexies wasted little time in applying the knockout punch. John Piper was forced to punt from his 21 and managed only an 11-yard punt. The first play, a Price to King pass, carried to the 19 and five plays later the verdict was cinched when Ballinger drove over from the four.

Going into the last period the Streaks abandoned their Tennessee T. Using no deception, the team turned to the air lanes. Flanking two backs and leaving one to defend the passer, George Gosa was placed in the deep spot to throw.

Pass Defense Tight

Harding's reliable pass defense came through again. Gosa threw the ball nine times in the last period but connected on only three. One was a screen pass for no gain while the other two picked up two and seven yards respectively. Joe Snouffer, Bibler and Price defended downfield while Gary Townsend, Hank Rinnert, Larry Sager and Jim Whaley kept Gosa from setting for long ones.

The Harding bus arrived at Sandusky late. The players dressed quickly and took to the field just in time for the flag raising ceremony, two minutes before kickoff. DeHaven had his gridders on the field at 7:34. The Prexies, however, were the first to return to the field at the half.

Coach Pete Howison filled in during the brief pre-game drills. He was holding the ball while Gene Armstrong attempted conversions. Doug Bibler relieved him when he reached the field.

—.—

The crowd was kept posted on the score of the Massillon-Fremont game. After the first score was given which showed Ross heard. It seemed to come mostly from Marion fans. When Massillon knotted the count and then went ahead, the Sandusky fans gave a tremendous roar of approval.

The Sandusky band swung into Harding's fight song following the third touchdown by the Prexies.

Bibler and Ballinger were singled out by press box observers as the big offensive guns for the Presidents. On the line the entire team turned in a topnotch performance but Hank Rinnert came in for particular praise for his defending against the plunges by Gosa and Murray. Several times Rinnert dumped the ball carriers in their bids for short yardage and first downs.

—.—

Seven seniors played their final game for Harding last night. They included Bob Hamor, Jim Whaley, Bob Pryor, John Obenour, Bibler Fred Price and Whitey Clinger, who sat out the game with injuries.

Brownies, 49ers To Play in Top Pro Grid Game

NEW YORK (AP)—Are the Cleveland Browns unbeatable?

Tomorrow's game between the Browns and San Francisco 49ers, which highlights a full slate of six National Football League tilts, will go a long way toward answering that question and a few others certain to affect the circuit's final standings.

Certainly, if the Browns are to be defeated this year, the high-scoring West Coasters are the ones to do it. Joe Perry, the league's ace ground gainer and Y. A. Tittle, back in top passing form, give San Francisco a tough one-two punch.

Although Cleveland, which has breezed through seven games, can lose and still hold a comfortable margin at the head of the Eastern Conference, this is a must game for San Francisco.

The Browns, who frequently have jarred opponents helpless in the opening periods and then run over them, have scored about a third of their points in the fourth quarters—while winning seven straight and all but clinching the Eastern Division title.

Almost 60,000 are expected to turn out for the game at Municipal Stadium, and it could be the first game to draw more than that total here since 1949 when the Browns and 49ers met in the old All-America Conference.

The teams represent the only two AA cities who did not lose clubs when the league collapsed, and both Coaches Buck Shaw and Paul Brown pick the other as a favorite opponent.

Brown says it's always a "family game"—and just as dangerous.

This will be the first chance Cleveland spectators get to see the 49ers operate without the help of Frank Albert, the little left-handed quarterback whose play-calling, punting, passing and running used to give Brown and his team the willies.

Y. A. Tittle took over successfully for Albert this year, promising stiff competition for Cleveland's Otto Graham, whose passing leads the league.

Defeat for the 49ers, locked in a three-way tie for the Western Conference lead with Los Angeles and Detroit, almost certainly will mean a drop into second or third place. The Rams take on the winless Chicago Cardinals and the Lions meet the none-too-formidable Green Bay Packers.

The Philadelphia Eagles will be at home to the Baltimore Colts, the New York Giants tangle with the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Washington Redskins meet the Chicago Bears.

Despite San Francisco's well-rounded offense, Cleveland is listed as a seven-point favorite.

The Cardinals, who have dropped seven straight, hardly figure to bother Los Angeles.

Detroit, too, looks like a cinch to whip Green Bay, although the Packers will be playing at home. Bobby Layne, off his showing against Baltimore last week end, appears to be back in stride.

Philadelphia, steaming with four wins in a row, again will rely on the passing of Bobby Thomason. If the Baltimore ends can do an effective job of rushing him the Colts might stand a chance. But they're listed as 13½ point underdogs.

The Jim Finks-Elbie Nickel passing combination is expected to Pittsburgh's chief offensive weapon against the Giants.

The Bears, who have picked up a penchant for folding in the fourth period, are six point underdogs against Washington.

MICKEY LEAVES HOSPITAL. Mickey Mantle, New York Yankee center fielder, uses crutches to aid him as he makes his exit from Burge Hospital in Springfield, Mo. The Yankee player was released from the hospital where he underwent an operation on his knee. Accompanying Mantle are his wife and Jerry Lumpe (carrying luggage), of Warsaw, Mo. Lumpe, a Yankee farmhand who played for Kansas City and Binghamton, N. Y., is now in the U. S. Army at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

Challenger Badly Whipped

Gavilan Posts Impressive Win Over Johnny Bratton

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan, who punched Johnny Bratton like he was a rag doll last night, today was ready to do more 147-pound business before shooting at Bobo Olson's middleweight crown.

Gavilan won a unanimous 15-round title decision from Bratton.

It was expected that, win or lose against No. 1 challenger Bratton at the Chicago Stadium, the Cuban would abandon the welter class and try to emulate Sugar Ray Robinson in graduating from 147-pound to 160-pound boxing king.

But the Gavilan who threw countless searing punches at a befuddled and helpless Bratton was said to like meeting Carmen Basilio or Gil Turner again in a couple of welterweight efforts before taking on Olson. This was a change of heart which may be traced to the International Boxing Club off the Kid's flaming go last night.

It had been freely predicted Gavilan would be thrown against Olson next February at San Francisco for the middleweight title. But Gavilan's wife is having a baby in February and the Kid would just as soon wait until March or April to meet Bobo.

And it isn't definite whether a Gavilan-Olson fight would be in San Francisco. Jim Norris, IBC president would like to have that fight in New York. Olson prefers San Francisco.

Gavilan's seventh defense of his title before a surprising crowd of 19,260 which paid a gross gate of $176,390 was one of his most artistic performances in a career of 113 pro fights.

Bratton, who dropped the National Boxing Assn. version of the 147-pound title to Gavilan in 1951, never had a chance after the eighth round in which the champ cornered Johnny to administer a terrific pasting.

The actual count of Gavilan's furious attack was 53 blows, all to the head. In a way, it was reminiscent of Olson's recent performance against Randy Turpin of England. It seemed that all Gavilan had to do was step back and Bratton would fall to the canvas. But, as Olson did against Turpin, Gavelan seemed over-anxious to belt his foe on the chin and failed to get over a crumpling blow.

After that blistering eighth, Gavilan worked like a man who wanted to break a crate of eggs, one at a time. Whenever the Kid elected to wade into Bratton, he did so with both fists flying.

Bratton's right eye puffed up in the 12th round and after that almost every solid blow Gavilan landed seemed to swell Johnny's face. In the closing 15th, Gavilan whaled away against a weary, helpless Bratton.

Defiance Gridders Whip Bucyrus 21-0

BUCYRUS—Defiance rolled over the Redmen here last night 21-0 to finish the season undefeated. The win gave the visitors a record of eight wins and a single tie. Bucyrus finished with a 3-6 mark.

The winners went ahead with four minutes left in the first period when Gene Baldwin plowed over from the one-yard mark. Wayne Ort added the point. The score was set up when Galen Ofdway intercepted a Glen Butterman pass at his own goal and returned 89 yards to the Redmen's 19. Defiance added another score in the second period when Ordway passed to Bob Martin for 45 yards. The final tally came with three minutes gone in the final frame when Ordway again threw to Martin, this time for 38 yards.

Bucyrus threatened only once. That was in the third period when the Redmen drove to the one-yard stripe.

Meeker Basketball Team in First Loss

Meeker dropped its first basketball game of the season last night when Ridgway scored on a desperation shot in the final two seconds. The losers had notched two straight wins before the 45-44 loss.

The visiting team jumped into a 17-10 lead in the first period and led 24-21 at the half. In the third period they hiked the margin to 36-29.

Walker Huffman's charges came storming back and with two minutes to go forged into the lead for the first time. With two seconds showing on the clock, Ridgway's Focht grabbed a tip from a jump ball and threw the ball at the hoop from the center of the floor. The ball cut the nets for the winning points.

Sharp topped the Meeker attack with 12 points while Focht scored 19 for the winners. In a reserve game, Meeker took a 54-23 verdict with Ron Griffin scoring 12 points. The Meeker junior high team also won, 32-24 over Grand Prairie Bill White was the big gun with 16 points. Meeker is at Marseilles Tuesday night.

78,000 Expected

Ohio State Aiming at New Season Attendance Record

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Purdue and Ohio State, battling for nothing except to decide which is the better team, meet today in a Big Ten tussle before some 78,000 fans.

The crippled Purdues are 14-point underdogs, and the seven-game statistics and the aches and pains which have hampered the Boilermakers appear to bear out the "spread."

Stu Holcomb, Purdue coach, brought only 37 players into the Buckeye lair, although he's allowed a traveling squad of 38 under Western Conference rules.

"We just didn't have anyone else to bring along," Stu said, as he explained that five youngsters who would have been starters had been left behind because of injuries, and that only two of the starters in the opener against Missouri would be in the kickoff lineup.

Purdue has won 4 and tied 1 of its last 5 games with Ohio State but the record indicates the twice-beaten Bucks are due to reap a bit of revenge today.

The Boilermakers have won only one of seven games, but that was the big one as Purdue ended Michigan State's 28-game winning streak in a 6-0 upset. Ohio has won five of its seven starts, losing only to league-leading Illinois 41-20 and to Michigan State 28-13.

Despite the two losses, which pushed the Bucks out of the Big Ten and Rose Bowl races, the Ohio Staters have a new five-game attendance record in the bag. The four home games have attracted 320,593 for an average of over 80,000, and today's game needs only 61,554 spectators to better the record of 382,148 set in five games in 1949.

Bellefontaine Sinks Kenton Crew 20-6

KENTON—George Keel's Kenton Wildcats wound up the 1953 football season by dropping just short of the .500 mark with a 20-6 loss to Bellefontaine last night. Kenton has a 4-5 record.

Bellefontaine scored all of its touchdowns in the second period. John Peterson scored two of them, one on a 20-yard pass play from Ray George, the other on a 55-yard punt return. The third came on a one-yard plunge by George. Bellefontaine had marched to the one after recovering a Kenton fumble on the Wildcat's 38.

Peterson also converted twice.

Jim Hogan scored Kenton's lone touchdown from the one to climax a 78-yard drive after Kenton recovered a Bellefontaine fumble on their own 22.

The game wound up the season for both squads, placing Bellefontaine second and Kenton fifth in the Western Buckeye League.

Irish Sink Aces To Take Mid-Ohio Conference Title

By GARY SAMS

St. Mary's Irish copped the first Mid-Ohio Conference pennant and concluded their best season in 10 years Friday night at Ashley against Elm Valley.

Held to a 13-13 deadlock for the first half the Irish combined defensive and offensive power in the second half for a 32-13 win over the Aces.

Finish at 7-1

The win gave Coach Ray Robbins' eleven a 4-0 mark in league play and wound up the Irish season at 7-1. It marked the best season since 1943 when St. Mary was unbeaten but figured in a pair of scoreless ties.

St. Mary took the second half kickoff and in seven plays had cracked the Elm Valley end zone with the clinching touchdown. The Irish added a pair of scores in the final period while the defense halted the Aces' only second half scoring threat and bottled up the losers' running game in their own territory for the win.

Elm Valley, after picking up 95 yards rushing and 73 more passing in the first half, was held to a minus six yards on the ground by the Irish defense in the second half. 25 yards passing and only two first downs. The locals ground out 160 yards and added 29 more through the air on Roger Micheli's only completion of the night, a scoring aerial, in the first half.

Aces Score First

Coach Ken Paul's Aces scored first early in the opening period after recovering an Irish fumble in the locals' territory. Elm Valley worked out the opening kickoff to the Irish 42-yard stripe before Dick Mounts dropped Bob Curran at the Aces' 49 but the losers had the ball right back again when Guard Dick Masters grabbed the fumble out of the air at the Irish 40 and ran the ball to the 34. Curran circled end and, reversing his field, went all the way for the score on the succeeding play. Quarterback Walt Borchers' conversion made it 7-0.

The locals came right back to score but Jerry Ballenger's wide conversion attempt left St. Mary trailing 7-6. The Irish moved the kickoff out to midfield where Dick Mounts punted to the Elm Valley 26. On a punting situation three plays later, Borchers bobbled the bad pass from center and Mounts recovered for the Irish at the enemy 29. Micheli hit Pat O'Connor in the Aces' end zone for the first Irish score on the following scrimmage play.

Elm Valley moved the following kickoff to the Irish 35 where the St. Mary defense stiffened and Coach Ray Robbins' crew put the ball in play at its own nine where Borchers' punt rolled out of bounds. John Messenger bolted through the right side of the Elm Valley line and ran to the Aces' 30 where he was overtaken by Eugene Borden on the first play from scrimmage. Running plays took the pigskin to the two as the period ended where O'Connor dropped a Micheli pass in the end zone and Elm Valley took over.

The Irish defense held Elm Valley for three plays and St. Mary was right back knocking for a score when Borchers' punt went out of bounds at the Aces' 33. Mike Anderson shot around left end and went all the way on the first scrimmage play and Ballenger's conversion made it 13-7.

Anderson's interception of a Borchers pass at the Irish 35 failed to start the Irish rolling again and Elm Valley had the ball at its own 42 when Ted Kilbury downed the Mounts' punt there. Borchers hit Ed Vanausdale with an aerial at midfield on the first scrimmage play and the back raced down the left sidelines untouched for the score. Borden cleared the way when he cut down the only Irish blocker at the 30. Meesenger knocked down Elm Valley's pass attempt for the extra point.

Irish Come Back

St. Mary struck right back to advance the kickoff to the Elm Valley 35 where three Micheli passes went incomplete. Elm Valley had the ball in Irish territory once again when Masters intercepted Anderson's pass at the Aces' 46 and two plays advanced the ball to the Irish 44 where the half ended.

O'Connor started the locals rolling when he almost ran the kickoff back but was trapped by the last two Elm Valley defenders at the Aces' 36. With Anderson, Kilbury and Messenger alternating in carrying the ball to the 18. Anderson covered the final distance when he found a hole in the left side of the Elm Valley line. Ballenger's kick was wide but St. Mary led 19-13.

With St. Mary's defense taking command the Irish moved to the Elm Valley 18 on their next series of plays where the Aces' defense stiffened but the Irish had the ball right back again as Messenger returned Borchers' punt eight yards to the Irish 47. With Ryan, Kilbury, and Anderson carrying the ball, St. Mary moved to the Elm Valley four from where Kilbury plowed over from his fullback position. Ballenger made good on his extra point attempt.

With the Irish defense pushing Elm Valley back to its own 5, Messenger put the Irish in scoring position again when Messenger returned Borchers' punt 19 yards to the Aces' 19. Kilbury, Anderson and Messenger lugged the ball to the two from where Kilbury went over again. Ballenger's kick was blocked.

Defense Stiffens

End George Conklin's recovery of an Elm Valley punt which Messenger had touched gave Elm Valley the ball at the Irish 28 several plays later. A Borchers to Vanausdale pass moved the ball to the three where the Irish defense stiffened and Dave Craft halted the drive by recovering Borchers' fumble on a bootleg play at the ten.

It marked the final game for 14 St. Mary seniors. They were O'Connor, Don Shoemaker, Jack O'Keeffe, Paul Sanzone, Ed Quesada, Bob Compton, Charlie Mitch, Jack Schnitker, Jack McNerney, Anderson, Kilbury, Ryan, Bill Lisch and Butch Merchant. Merchant, however, didn't appear in the Irish lineup. He was still nursing an injury suffered in St. Mary's first game of the year.

Two Elm Valley gridders were injured in the contest. Lee Gilman, left tackle, suffered a back injury and Phil Ironmonger, right guard, suffered a knee injury.

ST. MARY

ELM VALLEY

Ends, Bergen, Conklin, Hunter, tackles, Stein, Goeschun, Thompson, guards, Masters, Ingmire, Ferry, Doolittle, center, Campbell, backs, Curran, Borchers, Vanausdale, Reid.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

SOKOLSKY

In ancient times, slavery was, in a manner, justified on the ground that those who were conquered in war could be deprived of their rights and dignities because of the failure of their country.

It was a substitute for putting prisoners of war to death It is a mark of civilization to care for prisoners of war mercifully and to restore them to their own country.

The great moralist, Edward Westermarck, defines slavery as ". . . essentially an industrial institution, which implies compulsory labour beyond the limits of family relations The master has right to avail himself of the working power of his slave, without previous agreement on the part of the latter . . ."

-:-

THE 19TH CENTURY marked a great advance in the battle against slavery. The War Between the States ended the system in the United States, serfs were emancipated everywhere on the continent of Europe including Russia Movements were started to limit or abolish slavery in Africa and Asia.

Slavery is being restored and the real peril is that not only are the Russians enslaving their own people, but, for limited periods, prisoners of war. Article I of the Corrective Labor Code of Soviet Russia states:

"The task of the penal policy of the proletariat during the period of transition from capitalism to communism is to protect the dictatorship of the proletariat and the Socialist construction it is undertaking against encroachments by class-hostile elements and infractions not only by declasse elements but also by unstable elements among the workers."

ARTICLE 1 of the Penal Code states

"The aim of the penal legislation of the R.S.F.S.R. (Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic) shall be to protect the Socialist State of the workers and peasants and the established legal order therein against acts which constute a danger to society . . ."

These offenses are political, intellectual and spiritual. As the Russian state is organized on an ideological basis, opposition can be in the realm of ideas. Andrei Vishinsky, the prosecutor of the purge trials and the permanent representative of his country at the United Nations, put it this way:

"Soviet Socialist law aims at overcoming the opposition of class enemies and their agents to the cause of socialism, at ensuring the completion of Socialist construction and the gradual transition to communism."

PERSONS GUILTY of such crimes are sent to labor colonies, where they are deprived of their liberties and set to work as slaves. For class enemies, punishment is exile with corrective labor

In a word, slavery is employed as a political weapon for the suppression of dissent and difference. It could be used against Bolsheviks with whom Stalin differed or Malenkov now differs Actually Article VI of the Penal Code so states.

The number of slaves in Russia is not exactly known and will not be known unless some international body is permitted to make an investigation, which will not happen

It has been estimated that as many as 20,000,000 persons are now slaves.

SUCH SLAVES are used in building canals, railroads, roads, digging gold and other metals including uranium. A committee of the United Nations reports:

"In the committee's view it would therefore seem to be established that the work of prisoners, particularly in corrective labor camps and colonies, is used in the Soviet Union for essential tasks in the interests of the national economy, and that the part it plays is of considerable significance."

It is known that the Soviet government has engaged in large-scale deportations of persons from their own country to labor camps There have been accusations of this nature since the end of World War II with regard to Transylvanians, Hungarians and Czechs.

LARGE NUMBERS of Lithuanians, Latvians and Estonians have been deported from their homelands to Siberia. Precisely how truthful these reports are, I do not know, but documents are available to show that dissenters were ordered sent to "distant places in the USSR."

It is also known that large numbers of Germans and Japanese were detained in labor camps for long periods of years following the end of World War II. Some Germans taken in the war have only just been released.

We do not know and it has not been reported to the American people how many Americans, missing from the Korean War, are being detained in slave labor camps.

The use of slavery is barbarous and its restoration a horror in our times

JUST A PLAIN $3 BILL. Louisville Attorney Wilson K Beatty holds an authentic $3 bill in Louisville, Ky., and a display poster asking "What's So Queer?" about this reputedly non-existent note. The Treasury Department and Secret Service say it's genuine—even on this Friday the 13th. Issued on government authority by the Mechanics Bank, Washington D.C., Nov. 26, 1852, it's about the size of today's bills and printed on just one side.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Let's be calm about this Harry Dexter White rumpus, they tell us in some circles. All right, you be calm. I've got just the story to soothe you. It's the story of a friend of spies Harry Dexter White, Frank Coe, Gregory Silvermaster and William Ludwig Ullman. They all worked for the U. S. Treasury Department during the big war.

RIESEL

This "friend" is a fellow named Russel Arthur Nixon, who had a phenomenal career in the U S Army. All you ex-GIs out there will be fascinated to know that you just didn't have the right friends. This fellow Nixon, he had them

Drafted in 1941, he went through basic training Then he just walked up from buck private to second Lieutenant in charge of our financial intelligence section of the branch of the finance division of the Allied Control Council in Germany. That's nice Such a young fellow. Just 33 at the time.

GOES RIGHT from infantry basic training into intelligence work And sits as a member of the Joint Intelligence Committee, headed by Col Kruger, "operating on general intelligence problems" in Berlin.

That's our Horatio Alger capitalism, for you. This fellow, who doesn't like us and thinks the Soviet Union is just wonderful is on record as saying that, "In spite of all the desire in the world the (U.S.) government has never been able to demonstrate" the connection between the American Communist Party and the Communist International.

That was in answer to a question put to him by Sen. Hubert Humphrey. The senator asked the bright boy: "Do you consider the Communist party to be a part of an international network or do you consider it to be an indigenous political organization within the U S ?"

SO THIS FELLOW, Russ Nixon, gets drafted back in 1944 while he is head of the Washington office of the United Electrical Workers Now, I have differed with the UE rather strongly in the past.

But we agree on one thing The union is pro-Soviet Its leaders have been named before Congressional committees as high policy makers of the Communist party. It was expelled from the CIO for following "the line."

Yet the chief of its Washington legislative efforts is whirlwinded right to the topmost echelons of our intelligence forces — and finds himself sitting on the same Joint Intelligence Committee with none other than our highest intelligence officer, Allen Dulles, now head of Central Intelligence.

Of course, Allen Dulles was operating in Europe at that time—but what happened to our counter-intelligence which was supposed to keep our top counterspy, Mr Dulles, well informed? Oh well, keep calm, like they tell us There's more.

THIS MAN NIXON whose union in 1949 pulled and supported some of the most catastrophic strikes crippling our re-armament efforts and our strivings to help the anti-Nazi allies — this man Nixon was shoved to the top in this fashion:

At first he was chief of the denazification section of the finance division, having charge of the vital denazification of the German financial system in the American zone.

Then he became chief of the branch of financial intelligence of the same division. Then deputy director of the division of investigation of cartels and external assets of the Allied Control Council in Berlin. And within a few days of getting that last job he became director of that division.

SO SUBTLY did he work that he deceived even the intelligence officers of Gen. Eisenhower and Gen Clay, who appointed Nixon the American member of the four-power German External Property Commission established at the Potsdam conference. The two generals, busy elsewhere, depended on Treasury department information from back home.

This was the intelligence division which searched out so much of the German assets which the Russians took or dismantled. Many of these properties are now producing weapons and precision instruments with which the Russians threaten us

Oh, yes Don't worry about Nixon. He got his job back at the United Electrical Workers He still runs their Washington bureau But, they did give him time off, back in 1948, to help run the pro-Soviet Progressive party.

Like I said, keep calm.

Storage Problem

By Laura Hobson

"The Waldorf Astoria and the Fifteen Trunks" is my private name for a legal case I just read about, and though I am strictly neutral as between the Waldorf and the trunks, I find myself thinking about them a lot

HOBSON

I don't own fifteen trunks — or the Waldorf — but like millions of my fellow-renters who live in the apartment House of America, I do have storage problems, and it's nice to know the Waldorf has too.

-:-

A HUNGARIAN actress named Blanka Gaal, for instance, applied for a reservation at the towering stone palace on Park avenue back in 1940 and asked if they'd store her fifteen trunks that she'd brought from Europe" The answer was yes, and Miss Gaal stored.

Time flies, there was a war on it's always later than you think, and after seven years, the Waldorf sold the "unclaimed" fifteen at public auction. Highest bid $193.50.

More years flew and Miss Gaal sued the Waldorf stating that her fifteen trunks contained eighteen evening gowns, sixty pairs of shoes, twenty-six handmade nightgowns, fifteen parses—perhaps one in each trunk — and other trifles worth a cool $53,613.

LAST WEEK a supreme court awarded Miss Gaal $17,375, and the Waldorf is going to appeal the verdict.

With the well-known reluctance to say a word on controversial matters, it's easy for me to stay neutral in this one, but it certainly reminds me of the two trunks I do own as well as all the other things that won't fit in my present apartment but that I don't want to or can't afford to throw out

Things like a big fat roll of twelve-foot carpeting that fights with my current color scheme but might be just right for that house in the country I keep dreaming of in some distant future, like my boys' double-decker beds that would be great for a guestroom

-:-

OR LIKE THE two armchairs that need to be recovered but are basically sound like my twenty cartons of old books, and my sons' bicycles and old sleds and an eighth of a cord of firewood and plenty else I'd love to stash away until needed

So my four-by-six-by-ten storage bin in the basement has a door, a lock, a key, and a total cubic content that holds about three per cent of the lot

The attics and cellars that you house-dwellers have, the barns and garages, puts you out of our class, but maybe you can imagine the inner conflict, the pro and con, the plus and minus that goes on in our apartment-renting minds and hearts as we stand there in our basements, surveying our worldly extras, wondering which deserve the few cubic feet and which have to go to hospitals, charities, and junk dealers.

ANYWAY, the case of the Waldorf and the fifteen trunks holds a personal message for me It won't help me fit more stuff into that cubicle ten floors below me, and I'll still have to pile some firewood on the floor of the linen closet and some on the shelf with my best hats.

But at least I feel less lonely with my problem. And I sure hope few landlords in the USA read this piece before they send out their nice roomy bills for the December rent.

Benson Hears Complaints

Cattlemen Accusing City Speculator in Price Drop

By OVID A. MARTIN

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP) — Western farmers who make cattle raising and feeding their full time occupation year in and year out are pointing accusing fingers at city cousins for many of the troubles of the livestock industry.

Their criticisms are being directed at what some of them call the "butchers and bakers and candlestick makers" who jumped into the cattle business when beef prices climbed up after the war in the hope of making a big profit with some of their extra cash.

These Johnny-Come-Lately venturers, say the dyed-in-the-wool cattlemen, helped bid prices of grazing land and cattle to sky-high levels and also contributed heavily to an overproduction of beef cattle

Now that the cattle boom has broken and prices have dropped sharply, it is the regular livestockmen without oil wells and city cash registers, say the critics, who are paying heavily through loss of herds and financial backlogs built up in better days.

The participation of the so-called city "speculators" in the cattle business is getting more blame than the western drought for many difficulties in the cattle industry.

Certainly this is the gist of what Secretary of Agriculture Benson has heard so far on a flying 5,000 mile inspection tour of southern Great Plains and Western states to check on the drought situation and farmer views on the deflated cattle market.

Many cattlemen in areas designated by the government as drought disaster areas welcome federal aid designed to help tide them over to better days. But quite a number expressed open resentment at cases where this help in the form of low priced feed was going to the city guy who had never "had any business of getting into the game in the first place."

Troubled as they are, few cattlemen in Texas, New Mexico or Arizona who talked with Benson and accompanying newsmen wanted the government to step in and support cattle prices.

They said they preferred to try to weather the storm because they feared price supports would bring on more problems than they would solve, including possible government controls over cattle production.

Benson himself has resisted demands of some farm groups and congressmen that he set up cattle supports.

Ohio Publisher Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dudley A. White, Ohio newspaper publisher and former congressman, Friday was named executive director of President Eisenhower's Commission on Intergovernmental relations.

The appointment was announced by Clarence Manion, chairman of the group set up by Eisenhower to study how to eliminate friction and duplication between stat and federal governments. Manion said White would take up his duties within a few days

White is publisher of The Sandusky Register-Star-News and the Norwalk Reflector-Herald.

Speedier Operation Predicted With Postoffice Reorganization

Operations at the Marion Postoffice should be speeded up when the trial decentralization of postal operations in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky begins on Nov. 24, Postmaster Homer D. Cole of Marion reported oday.

Under the new setup the three states will be organized into a postal region with regional offices in Cincinnati and district offices in nine principal cities. Postmasters in the three states will report to the district offices instead of to Washington, D C., as was done under the old plan.

The Marion Postoffice will report to the district office in Columbus

Cole said that the local Postoffice should be able to receive help on its prblems within two to three days after they are reported Under the old plan, it sometimes took 30 or more days to receive replies from Washington.

In cases of emergency, local postal authorities could call Columbus for help at much less expense than would be required to contact the Postal Department in Washington

In announcing the new plan recently, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield stressed that this will be only a pilot operation for a program that will be extended nationally as soon as practicable.

According to Summerfield, the main advantage of the plan is that it will break the present bottleneck in Washington where every one of the 41,000 postmasters report directly to the department headquarters. They will now report to their district managers

Other advantages he listed are that it will improve service by permitting closer coordination and allowing speedier solution of local problems, create efficiency and economy, and improve employe morale

The new plan will also permit promotions to be made by those who are in a position to evaluate performance and capabilities most accurately

The decentralization plan was one of the basic recommendations of the Hoover Commission.

In addition to Columbus district offices will be located in Cleveland, Toledo, Cincinnati, Fort Wayne, Dayton, Indianapolis, Louisville and Lexington

Senators Show Disagreement On Civil Rights

Cooper Says Congress Should Press Laws, Ellender Thinks Not

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Cooper (R-Ky) said today the Republicans should try to pass civil rights legislation when Congress meets again, but Sen. Ellender (D-La) said that would start "a battle royal" in the Senate.

Cooper said in an interview he believes the Republican's record in Congress will be decisive in the 1954 elections for 35 Senate seats and all 435 House seats. The Kentucky senator may be opposed for re-election by Alben W. Barkley, Democrat and former vice president.

Shouldn't Dodge Problem

Cooper said he doesn't believe such issues as the farm problem, budget balancing and tax revisions can be solved by any "quick and magic methods." But he said he doesn't think the Republicans ought to dodge any problems they promised to try to solve.

"The civil rights plank of the 1952 platform pledged support to further just and equitable treatment in the area of discriminatory employment practices."

"I tink we should make an honest effort to pass some civil rights bills," he said. "It is better to make a fight on civil rights and not just say that no bill can pass because of a filibuster and give up on the issue."

Opposes FEPC Bill

Ellender said in a separate interview he feels the Republicans will be getting off on the wrong foot if they try to bring a compulsory Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) bill before the Senate. In the past he has spoken for days against such measures.

"If they begin debate on the civil rights issue, the Senate may be in session for a long time and may accomplish little or nothing," Ellender said.

The Louisiana senator sat out the 1952 campaign after criticizing Democratic presidential nominee Adlai E. Stevenson for endorsing former President Truman's civil rights program.

"The people want action now and not headlines," Ellender declared. "The Republican party had better get busy and clear its decks for some constructive work on major problems instead of talking about civil rights and Communist activity of years ago."

Critical of Brownell

Ellender has been critical of Atty. Gen. Brownell's charges that Truman promoted Harry Dexter White in government service in 1946 after the FBI named White as a spy for Communists.

Ellender said he thinks most people will regard the White controversy as water under the bridge and will be much more interested in what Congress does about farm prices, the budget and defense spending.

Cooper said he was inclined to agree that what occupies the public mind now may be forgotten a year from now when the congressional election is held.

White

Igor Gouzenko, The Canadian government turned down Jenner's previous bid in a letter to Dulles dated Nov. 5, saying Gouzenko had nothing to add to what the U.S. government already knew about his case.

But Jenner said his subcommittee has a "1945 security document" which quotes Gouzenko, now living in Canada, as saying he was told at the Soviet Embassy that the Soviets had an agent in the U. S State Department in May 1945. This information, Jenner said, does not appear in the report of the Canadian Royal Commission which investigated Gouzenko's revelations.

Jenner emphasized to newsmen that his subcommittee is not concentrating on White, but is looking into the case of Alger Hiss and others named in a 1945 FBI report on subversion in government.

Now in Prison

Hiss, a State Department employe at the time is now serving a prison term. He was convicted of lying under oath in denying he passed secrets to a Red courier.

White, now dead, denied vehemently that he was a Communist or a spy. But Walter said last night Truman, Hoover, Clark and Vinson agreed to promote him from assistant secretary of the Treasury to U. S. representative on the International Monetary Fund "in order not to arouse the suspicions of people at that moment under surveillance."

"It was felt by people concerned," Walter said, "that not to go through with the appointment might arouse Mr. White's suspicions, and others."

Walter said Truman, Hoover and Clark—now a Supreme Court associate justice—should be asked to testify. Vinson, who later became a chief justice, is dead.

A call for Hoover's testimony came also from Sen. Welker (R-Idaho), a member of Jenner's committee. At Boise last night, Welker said the FBI chief should "tell his original position on White" and why he submitted two reports on him.

In Carlsbad, N. M., Rep. Fernandez (D-NM) accused the Republicans of making "Truman out as a whipping boy" and said they are liable to put him "right back in the White House."

'Must Call Everyone'

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), in Portland, Maine, on a speaking date, said he thought "it will become absolutely necessary to call everyone involved"—including Truman.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said in Washington he hoped the inquiry could be "gotten back on the track." He said it had jumped the track with the furor over Truman's refusal to obey a subpoena from the House committee.

"The object of this inquiry ought to be to determined if there exists in the government today the same sort of Communist threat that apparently existed in 1945," said Knowland, the GOP Senate leader.

Sen Ellender (D-La) said in an interview he believes "Mr. Brownell is guilty of misrepresentation to the public."

"The attorney general's assertion that the FBI made a finding that White was a spy is just untrue," Ellender said.

Otherwise, the hottest political row since the Eisenhower administration took office simmered down for the week end.

Truman Heads Home

Truman himself heads home from New York today—to Kansas City for a look at his files and, maybe, to prepare a public statement giving his side of the controversy.

The former President said yesterday his refusal to testify before the House committee under subpoena didn't necessarily mean he would remain silent.

Justice Clark, followed Truman's tack yesterday and declined to answer a subpoena from the House committee. Like Truman, he based his refusal on the constitutional independence of each branch of the federal government from the other two.

Then, Sec South Carolina Gov. James F. Byrnes, who also rejected a House committee summons, Clark indicated he'd answer written questions if the committee wanted to submit them. The committee [illegible] state at the time of White's promotion, also agreed to meet with committee members if they'd come see him in Columbia, S. C. Committee Chairman Velde (R-Ill) accepted Byrnes' offer. But he said yesterday he hadn't named a subcommittee to confer with the governor.

Likewise Velde did not set an immediate date for questioning Brownell.

Senator Says Sale of Cars in China Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) said today he was confident the government would reject any application by a U. S. company to sell automobiles in Red China.

And he is confident "no application has been made to sell automobiles" to the Communist country, he added in an interview.

The United States cut off all trade with Red China during the Korean War. The barriers have not been lifted. However, some free world countries trade with the Communist led Chinese in items they hold to be non-strategic to China's war potential.

Ferguson was asked about the matter in view of statements in Detroit by a Chrysler company executive that the State and Commerce departments had been sounding out industry sentiment on possible reopening of limited trade with Red China.

The official, C. B Thomas, president of Chrysler's export division, said a possible Chinese market was a ray in a generally not too favorable export outlook.

New Government Loan System Urged at Hearing

CLEVELAND (AP) — Officials of small business concerns called on Congress yesterday to set up a new system of government-sponsored loans.

They appeared at a hearing conducted by U. S Rep. William McCulloch, a Republican from Piqua, and a member of the House Select Committee on Small Business.

The committee is seeking information on the operation of the Small Business Administration.

Sherwood S. Parsons, president of the Parsons Eng. Corp. here, said the SBA should be changed in order to enable it to insure loans for small firms.

Legislation should be introduced to make the agency similar to the Federal Housing Authority, Parsons said, declaring the FHA had "carried" the construction industry.

She was competing with students from high schools throughout the state. The first-place prize of $100 was taken by David Lively, a student at the Hamilton High School. Robert Reed, a Belle Center High School student, finished fifth.

GOP Chairman Sees Victory in 1954 Elections

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—The American people "have no desire to tie one arm behind Ike's back by saddling him with a Democratic Congress next year," the national chairman of the Republican party said last night.

Leonard Hall told a dinner meeting of Kansas Republicans that a victory in the 1954 elections would require a hard fight.

Earlier, Hall's predecessor in the national chairmanship, Wesley Roberts, received a standing ovation at the state committee meeting. He was presented with a silver tray by the national party organization bearing the signatures of President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and the late Sen. Robert A. Taft among more than 200 others.

Roberts, a Kansan, resigned the national chairmanship under fire after a Kansas legislative committee held he violated the spirit of the lobbying law in handling a 1951 building sale to the state.

Roy W. Cox, 65-year-old Iola grain dealer, was elected state chairman by the Kansas Republicans.

[illegible] United States and Canada.

Before Eisenhower spoke, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada said in introducing him:

"We would like you to know that we are grateful for the leadership your nation is providing in the common effort of free men and women to make our world a safer and better place for future generations."

St. Laurent said U. S. example, as a member of the United Nations in "vigorous and immediate resistance to wanton aggression has revived the hopes of anxious people that, through collective action, international peace may be secured and maintained."

Cites Need For Expansion

Eisenhower talked also of a need for expansion of international trade and for joint U.S.-Canadian action on construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

But his emphasis on the danger to the security of the two countries and on the need for enduring peace overshadowed other subjects.

"Canada and the United States," he said, "are equal partners and neither dares to waste time. There is a time to be alert and a time to rest.

"These days demand ceaseless vigilance. We must be ready and prepared. The threat is present."

He said U.S.-Canadian Joint Board on Permanent Defense has worked "assiduously and effectively" on mutual problems and that "now is the time for action on all agreed measures."

He did not specify those measures. Joint continental defense plans include, for example, a radar system, with more stations to the south to track planes after the outer screen has picked them up.

One Part of Program

The President emphasized that steps to defend North America are but one part of the world-wide security program.

"The North Atlantic Treaty Organization, for example, is an essential defense for Ottawa, for Washington, and for our neighbors to the south, as well as for communities thousands of miles to the eastward.

"Implicit in the consultations and the detailed studies which must continue, and in the defenses which we have already mounted, is the need for world-wide vigilance and strength. But the purpose is defense. We have no other aim."

Meanwhile, said Eisenhower, the United States claims no monopoly on wisdom in trying to win a secure peace.

"We are willing—nay anxious—to discuss with friends and any others all possible paths to peace. We will use every means—from the normal diplomatic exchange to the forum of the United Nations—to further this search."

Voicing confidence a way will be found, the President said "beyond the shadow of the atomic cloud the horizon is bright with promise." He added that no shadow can halt the advance of the United States and Canada together.

Alf M. Landon Snubbed At GOP Victory Dinner

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Star said last night that Alf. M. Landon, 1936 Republican presidential candidate, was not invited to sit at the speakers' table at the Kansas party's harmony meeting and victory dinner in Topeka.

In a special dispatch from its Topeka Bureau, the Star said Landon "sat inconspicuously among other party members" and quoted him as saying:

"I have had honors which come to few men from the Republican party. I am conscious of my obligations and responsibilities to my party, and I am deeply grateful to the several million Democrats who voted for me.

"Whether I sit on one more dais or not is a matter of indifference to me. My only concern is to be of some use to my country first and my party second."

Annual Report Prepared

Marion Chamber Lists Achievements

Progress toward a master traffic plan and the study of a city charter were listed as two of the achievements of the Marion Chamber of Commerce by M. Paul Hunt, president, in the organization's report for 1953.

The report, covering the fiscal year ended Nov. 1, records the activities of the Chamber's 21 committees, board of directors and executive office. It will be distributed when the Chamber finishes its 1953 year with the annual banquet Monday night at the Hotel Harding. At that time, Edgar W. Barnhart will succeed Hunt as president.

TRAFFIC PLAN progress was a result of joint action between the grade crossing and the streets and highways committee.

According to A. F. Busch, chairman of the joint committee, the solution of Marion's traffic problem is being held up until an official traffic survey can be made at an approximate cost of $20,000. Toward this end city council has allocated $6,000 and the county commissioners $2,000. The joint committee has undertaken the task of raising the balance through solicitation.

The Osgood Co., Pollak Steel Co. and the Erie Railroad each spent more than one million dollars on the expansion of their facilities. The Marion Engineer Depot completed a two-and-one-half million dollar expansion program, while the Marion Training School began work on two construction projects totaling about eight million dollars.

One of the activities of the Retail Merchants Division under Chairman Al Hamburg was the inauguration of a telephone chain warning service. With this service all participating businessmen can be notified within 10 to 15 minutes of the presence of a shoplifter or bad check passer in town.

THE REPORT of the Chamber's board of directors showed that group approved all special projects of the committees and the executive staff and assisted the president and other officers in promoting the group's activities.

Milk Sells for Nickel A Quart in Price War

NEW YORK (AP)—Milk sold for as low as a nickel a quart yesterday during a brief price war along a six-block stretch of Flatbush Ave. in Brooklyn.

The commodity went at the regular price of two quarts for 49 cents at opening time. The war started at about 11 a.m.

By 3 p.m., when housewives snapped up the last quart in the neighborhood, it was at the nickel low.

No one had an idea of how much milk was involved; nor did anyone know for sure what started the war. The apparent cause was said to be one merchant's plan for a "leader" sale of sour cream at 30 cents a quart.

The accommodation—a private compartment with furniture to be made up into large beds—will cost $125 a room in addition to regular fare and a $25 per person extra fare charge for the luxury flight.

Planes have had regular sleeping berths for some time.

Expert Advice Given

Wallpaper Painting Big Problem of Homeowners

By DAVID S BARELTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

How to paint wallpaper is becoming quite a universal problem in this do it yourself age Our women are now so fastidious they give us a glassy stare when we suggest that we just go ahead and paint and see what happens

Well thanks to the ladies we realize this could be an expensive experiment especially if we have to call in a professional to undo any damage Wallpaper can be tricky It can better bag curl or fade through some paints

Tricky Redecorating

Also so many houses have been built with gypsum wallboard which itself is covered with paper that redecorating is even trickier

It seems that one of the short cuts for inside secrets of some builders to their subcontractors has been to apply wallpaper directly to paper covered wallboard with no sizing or special paste to permit the wallpaper to be removed without destroying the wallboard Painting the wallpaper therefore becomes about the only economical redecoration

Faced with such a problem this writer has sifted the advice of several authorities One expert a paint manufacturer reduces the job to a fairly simple operation provided the wallpaper is tight Another authority the Gypsum Association warns of proper application and proper treatment of dry wall construction in the first place A third a contractor emphasizes the amount of work involved in a satisfactory job

Expert's Answer

First we asked Douglas C Arnold president of a paint and varnish company He said

'Paper that has bulges bubbles or blisters will not hold paint properly and will give an unsightly finish It is very simple to determine whether your paper is tight Run your hand over every area Check whether the paper is loose

'Then be certain your paint will cover the pattern Red and orange often bleed through because the ink in the pattern may be oil soluable under oil paint

Select a corner which is inconspicuous for a test Let it dry for several hours If there is no trace of pattern you can proceed'

To prevent wallpaper ink from striking through paint, Arnold suggests a coat of shellac or aluminum primer to seal the surface Then paint is applied with sweeping parallel strokes to prevent the paint from running

Gypsum wallboard manufacturers however contend that shellac or ordinary glue size used on bare wallboard before applying wallpaper can prove too brittle Peeling can be a hazard

Best Sealer

The correct sealer for gypsum wallboard is considered to be a good pigmented vanish primer or a lime locking oil water primer These are rated as suitable for oil paint casein paint lacquer enamel or resin emulsion paint

Manufacturers of rubber base paints say no sizing is required Of course careful concealment of joints and nailheads is taken for granted in all cases

'Wallpaper should never be applied to gypsum wallboard without first priming the surface says the Gypsum Association

Sizing varnish or high gloss varnish cut 25 per cent with turpentine are recommended Special sealers specified by the wallboard manufacturers will protect the wallboard when removal of wallpaper becomes necessary'

The spreading preference for painting wallpaper can be readily understood when the problems of removal are weighed Our contractor friend took a look at one first sized bedroom and said $200 without cost of new paper' The reason' Steaming off the old paper

Painting seems to be a simple way out

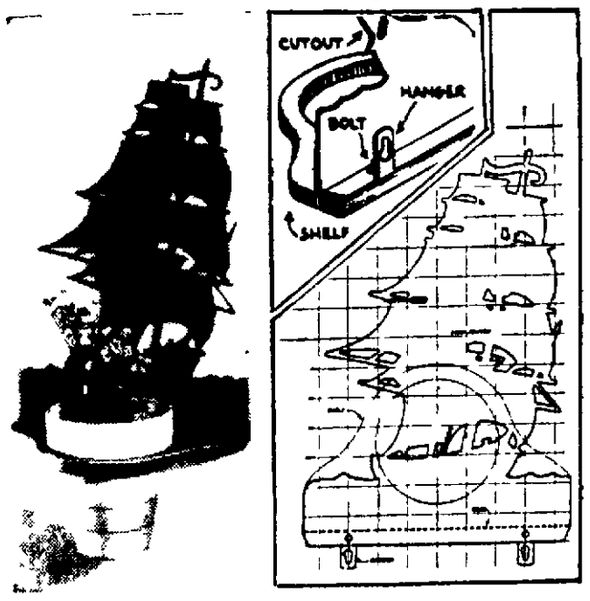
Home Workshop Project



A FLOWER POT with bracket makes an interesting combination sheet metal and woodworking home shop project A background pattern of a paper ship in full sail is designed on squared paper then cut out to pattern from galvanized sheet iron This can be painted black or tried in sun

The bottom edge is bent back with holes allowed for bolting to the flower pot shelf Tabs for hanging are then bent up to provide hangers to fit over screw heads The shelf is readily formed on a power driven shaper and a sheet is cut to accommodate a 4 inch flower pot For other size pot the side of the shelf is changed accordingly

Potential Bomb Said Present In Many Homes

The average home owner cautioned to look for an unsuspected bomb in his basement would be apt to feel he was being made the butt of a practical joke

Yet this is good advice for a potential bomb does exist in many homes today, according to the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau This bomb looks innocent enough for it is nothing more than the domestic water heater the bureau explains

But when it explodes from overheating as many do it rips and tears with the force of dynamite or TNT destroying property and sometimes causing injury even death the bureau add

Such explosions are frequent but unnecessary and result from either a lack of temperature and pressure relief valves or failure to check these safety devices regularly for proper operation

Water in the heater tank always is under pressure to reach various faucet outlets at remote locations in the home Many home heaters have become weakened through the normal process of aging These are the ones most likely to spring a leak permitting superheated water to escape and instantly expand into steam with a sudden blinding explosion

If the heater is made of galvanized iron it flies apart like shrapnel when it explodes If it is made of steel it is likely to soar like a rocket from the cellar clear through the roof

The best way to guard against a hot water explosion is to engage a plumber to make sure pressure and temperature controls are used for safety's sake and check them periodically for proper functioning

Aid for the Ailing House

By ROGER WHITMAN

Q We found that in a severely cold weather we have a lot of frost forming on the rafters, rails and vent pipes As the temperature rises this melts and forms small puddles of water on the attic floor Two louvres were installed in the roof but they were placed on the same side of the house After complaining to the builder that louvres should be placed on opposite sides he is now going to install another one on the other side of the roof Do you think this will solve our problem? Would it be better to close up one of the two original louvres?

A In order to obtain good circulation it is always advisable to install vents at opposite ends or sides Whether or not this will solves your problem depends on the size of the louvre openings The general formula calls for one square foot of louvre opening for each three hundred feet of attic floor space To balance air movement it would not hurt to install two louvres on the opposite side You cannot get too much circulation of air in the attic area

Q We intend to remodel our home and plan on using a gallon of the wallpaper then applying a thin coat of plaster The walls are rough and were sized We have been told plaster will not stick on sized walls What would you advise us to do

A White finishing plaster cannot be applied over painted or sized walls If the plaster is rough only in spots it can be made smooth by the application of spackle

Q We plan to paint the woodwork and since this is varnished and there is a large amount of it is there any preparation we could use to dull the shine or should we use sandpaper?

A Some paint dealers carry in stock a special preparation that is made for the purpose of dulling glossy paint or varnish If not available in your community wash down the surfaces with a solution of trisodium phosphate or washing soda using about a cupful in each gallon of water Thoroughly rinse off all traces of the solution and allow the woodwork to dry If any traces of the solution remain painting results will not be satisfactory

Dodge Report Sees Building Good in 1954

With 1954 expected to be one of the top years in American economy construction projects will decline only about three per cent from 1953 in 37 states east of the Rockies

This is the prediction of the F W Dodge Corporation construction and marketing news specialists of New York City

The estimate was compiled by Thomas S Holden vice chairman and Clyde Shute manager, of the firms statistical research division Based on known and specific construction projects it is used as a basis for estimating the actual 48 state total of construction companies officials say

If the estimates prove as accurate as those made for 1953 another big year seems in the making for construction firms they add

For private business activity Holden and Shute agree with government economists 1954 will likely will be the second best year in the history of American economy

They estimate dwelling units started will decline 10 per cent to about 900 000 units The same time public works and utilities construction projects are expected to show a seven per cent gain They also look for a five per cent decline in the floor space of all new buildings started next year

Prince Charles Celebrates His Fifth Birthday

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles chubby-faced heir to Britain's throne had his fifth birthday today—without a party without a birthday cake and without parents to wish him happy returns

Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh—who so far have spent only one birthday with their son—were set to have a happy family time together this time but suddenly changed their plans

They decided instead to spend a quiet weekend at their country estate at Sandringham, resting before the start Nov 3 of their grueling six month tour to Australia and New Zealand.

Charles and his flaxen haired sister Princess Anne, were sent to spend the weekend at the royal lodge in Windsor with 'Grandma' —Queen Mother Elizabeth—instead of romping around Buckingham Palace with friends invited to a royal party

There was a small tea party at the lodge today—but it wasn't the real thing That will have to wait until Monday when the Queen and the Duke return from Sandringham

Then the birthday of the prince with the sunny smile will be celebrated in earnest with a few select friends—children of the palace staff

Charles had a few presents to open this morning but most of them have been held up until Monday Tops among them undoubtedly will be a little boy's dream automobile from his parents

It's a sparkling red limousine with an electric motor and all the controls of a real auto It was specially built to the Duke's specifications

Grange Officers Seated

Two newly elected officers were installed when United Grange met Tuesday night They were Mrs James Rogers lecturer, and Mrs Le Le Clark chaplain

Mr and Mrs Albert Ruth gave a report of the recent state grange convention held in Cleveland Russell Wicker Harmonister presided At the next meeting Nov 24 a covered dish dinner is scheduled for 7 30 p m

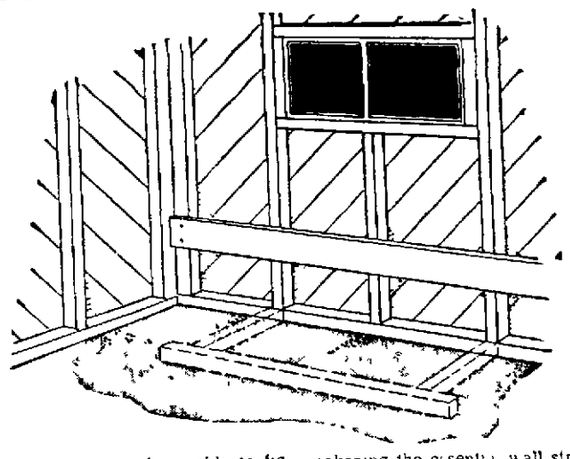
YOUR HOME ... Today and Tomorrow

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY



We have never been able to figure out why nine out of ten garages are built to such compact dimensions that the average modern car can barely squeeze into it Certainly homeowners curse the inconvenience of squeezing out of car doors which can be only half opened and of having to slowly throttle up to the rear wall so that the garage doors can be closed without catching on or nicking the rear bumper Nevertheless these are the facts and we have to make the best of them

Continued bumps against a wood framed wall can only end with definite damage Sooner or later the wall studs, which are bumped by the front end of the car will loosen from the floor sill In turn the wall sheathing will separate weakening the essential wall structure We have noted instances where a man's foot slipped off the clutch and the car plowed right through the garage wall for half of its length

Movable chock blocks are not a safe way in which to prevent hitting the wall as it is possible the tires will push them ahead while the car creeps forward

There are two better ways of doing the job properly, and a combination of both is just about perfect One idea is to spike a heavy piece of timber, probably a two-by-eight right across the studs at [illegible] so that the car bumper height bump of the car will be distributed across five or six studs instead of being concentrated on two or three of them Another idea is to lay a 2 by 4 on the floor, on the two-inch side and brace it with shorter lengths, measured off to stop the tires and in turn the car just short of the wall as shown by the dotted line in the illustration

Any handy man should be able to build these brakes in a half hour and the cost is little Odd pieces of lumber are not difficult to find and two thin boards well-nailed together are often stronger than one thick board

Growing Do-It-Yourself Trend is Recognized by Avenue Lumber Co.
LOCAL FIRM TAKES ON SALES OF FORMICA

For the last few years city folks have been borrowing on a theme long practiced in rural areas

More and more people are doing things themselves around the home This applies to such jobs as fixing the plumbing painting the house, or wiring for an extra light in the basement or garage. Now it applies to using Formica, the popular laminated plastic for covering kitchen cabinet sink tops bathroom Vanitories (R) and table and counter tops The city folks find this an easy and satisfying new experience Folks living in the small town and country are taking the "Do-It-Yourself" installation of Formica right in stride . because the farm folks were the original "Do-It-Yourselfers"

In the old days Dad held the sulky rake together with baling wire Twice a year mother tacked new oil cloth on top of the back porch catch-all Even a sick animal was not always reason for calling in a veterinarian if

Applying Formica Contact Bond Cement with toothed spreader

Big Brother could concoct a home remedy Farm folks still tackle many jobs themselves as they come up go ahead and get it done no time to wait days and weeks for someone to come out and do it.

Avenue Lumber Co knew the rural areas would take fast to the idea of installing Formica themselves That's why they recently became a Formica outlet offering a nice selection of colors and patterns from this popular line of laminated plastics They also stock the Formica Contact Bond Cement you'll need to hold the Formica in place. With it comes an applicator The other tools you'll need are few and simple Chances are you already have them.

Rolling down the new Formica top.

Formica cuts easily with a wood saw to the desired shape. After cleaning the surface on which the Formica is to be applied you spread on the adhesive and let it dry for about 40 minutes Then you position the Formica and roll it down tight with an ordinary rolling pin.

Mr Brabson says: "That is about all there is to installing Formica yourself. When anyone purchases a sheet of Formica we give them a folder which tells the step-by step procedure to follow including finishing edges and replacing the sink How to do it pictures illustrate this folder which means you can't miss."

Village Mayor Upheld in Tear Gas Gun Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — A common pleas judge yesterday acquitted a village mayor of assaulting a motorist with a tear gas gun and said the mayor would have been justified in shooting the driver.

Judge James C Connell ruled in the case of Mayor Robert E. Willeford of Bedford Heights. The motorist was Saul Goldstone, an auto parts salesman, wo admitted he once was sent to Mansfield Reformatory for grand larceny.

Willeford was indicted on a charge of maiming Goldstone, but the charge was reduced to assault and battery after two eye specialists testified the tear gas did not destroy the salesman's eyesight.

The judge's ruling followed testimony by Willeford and two defense witnesses that the mayor fired the tear gas only after Goldstone resisted arrest when stopped for speeding.

Radio Station Chief Jailed After Trying To Air Ohio Grid Game

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — A radio station president was jailed here last night after trying to broadcast an account of the Ironton—Portsmouth high school football game from a truck outside the stadium without permission of school authorities.

Marshall Rosene, 47, president of WNXT, Portsmouth, was released on $35 bond early today after more than four hours in jail.

He was scheduled to appear Monday before Municipal Judge John J. Gallagher on charges of "driving a truck off a truck route and disobeying an officer."

2 Others Get Permission

Two other stations were granted permission to broadcast the game—the last of the season for the rival schools from neighboring Ohio River towns. A capacity crowd of more than 5,000 saw Portsmouth win 44-0.

George Brown, member of the Ironton School Board, said no live broadcasts had been permitted until last night. He said WPAY, Portsmouth, and WIRO Ironton, were granted last-minute permission to broadcast the game because it was a sell-out.

Brown said he understood WNXT had never applied for permission to make the broadcast but the other two stations had. He said the board's policy prohibiting broadcasts had been adopted this year, although there had been broadcasts in previous years. He said the school board rejected radio broadcasts because they were "financially bad."

Russell Newman, chief engineer of WNXT, said the station had sought permission at the start of the season to broadcast the game, but it was denied.

Refused To Move Truck

Rosene was arrested by Police Officer Leo Sierer, who said Rosene refused to move the truck. Announcers Jack Hurst and Phil Phillips, standing on top of the truck, were broadcasting a play-by-play account of the game. They had leased a telephone wire, which was strung to the truck from a nearby pole.

In the middle of the broadcast, somebody cut the wire, knocking them off the air.

The announcers, engineer and WNXT's attorney, Cyrus Kahl, all went to the police station while Rosene was booked and placed in a cell.

Bail was finally set shortly after 1 a. m. by Police Capt. Gray Massie.

Regarding the charges against Rosene, Atty Kahl said Rosene did not drive the truck, but had come to Ironton in his own car. Regarding the charge of "disobeying an officer," Kahl said:

"There is no law which prohibits a station from broadcasting a football game."

Magazine Editor Seeks Record in Round-Globe Trip

LONDON (AP)—A Chicago magazine editor hoping to set a new world record for a round-the globe flight on commercial airlines flew into London today.
